WRA Calls Troops After Aliens Severely Beat Night Watchman

EXPLOSIVE SITUATION

Area In Turmoil Since Prisoners Refuse To Engage In Work

TULE LAKE, Cal., Nov. 5—U. S. Army troops today took over Tule Lake relocation camp for disloyal Japanese at request of War Relocation Authority officials.

One thousand troops, under the command of Col. Verne Austin, moved into the camp early this morning after Jap internees had assaulted and severely beaten a WRA night watchman.

The troops put tanks into the camp area to maintain order and WRA officials reported 20 casualties among Jap internees. No deaths were reported.

An eyewitness reported seeing 30 Japs with their hands over their heads being held at the point of Tommy guns by soldiers in battle dress.

When the army took over, the white civilian employees of the camp, some 200 in number, were offered a chance to leave the area. Some of the civilians took advantage of the offer, while others elected to remain under army protection.

As soon as the army assumed control telephone connections with the camp were severed.

Explosive Situation

The explosive situation which brought the troops in developed only a few hours before the army engineers were to commence construction of wire barricades to bar Jap internees from the administration building area in the camp.

The original trouble at the Tule Lake camp developed last Monday when Jap internees refused to harvest a root crop planted by other Jap prisoners. The internees declared that they considered themselves prisoners of war and that they could not be compelled to work.

The editor of the Tule Lake Sentinel said the guard attacked last night was a WRA employee attached to the internal security department. He suffered severe internal injuries.

He was the second WRA employee attacked within less than a week by Jap camp dwellers. During a startling demonstration last Monday in which approximately 4,000 Japanese took part, the project physician was beaten by several Japs who threatened his girl secretary, a Japanese.

Spaniards Stir Anger Of America

Franco To Be Told U. S. Will Tolerate No Added Pro-Axis Moves

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The United States government is preparing today to take Spain sharply to task for recent pro-Axis moves by the Franco regime.

Strong diplomatic action is being formulated by the state department. This action is intended to make Spain realize that Uncle Sam will not continue to tolerate activities by the Spanish government which give new aid and comfort to the common enemies of the United Nations.

The latest pro-Axis moves by the government of General Francisco Franco to which the state department is taking vigorous exception are:

1. Sending of a congratulatory message to Jose P. Laurel, head of the newly-created Japanese puppet government in the Philippine islands;

2. Conclusion of a trade agreement with Benito Mussolini's new German-controlled government in northern Italy.

Under the trade agreement, Spain has promised to send Mussolini's regime supplies of lemons, payment for which is to be applied to Franco's debt to Fascist Italy for aid received during the Spanish civil war.

Both actions are regarded by this government as tending to give aid to the enemy. The congratulatory message to the "Quisling" government in the Philippines is viewed as a particularly unwarranted insult to the United States.

While the state department will not go so far as to break diplomatic relations with Spain, it will make it unmistakably clear to General Franco that the United States is rapidly losing patience with his apparent failure to realize who is going to win this war.

The diplomatic action to be taken against Spain will be in accord with a general stiffening of the American government's attitude toward the pro-Axis neutrals. Argentina already has felt the effect of this stiffening policy. The treasury department has frozen the assets in this country of two of Argentina's biggest banks. These banks, both of which are closely associated with the Argentine government, have been extending credits to firms on the American blacklist of Latin American nationals who are engaged in trade with the enemy.

COSTELLO GOES ON AIR DESPITE DEATH OF BABY

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5—Theatrical tradition required that the show must go on.

And so, with eyes that were swollen with weeping, Comedian Lou Costello returned to the air last night.

A couple of hours before his radio program was to go on Costello heard his one-year-old son, Lou, Jr., pronounced dead, after a fire department inhalator squad had labored fruitfully for an hour and 40 minutes to revive the boy.

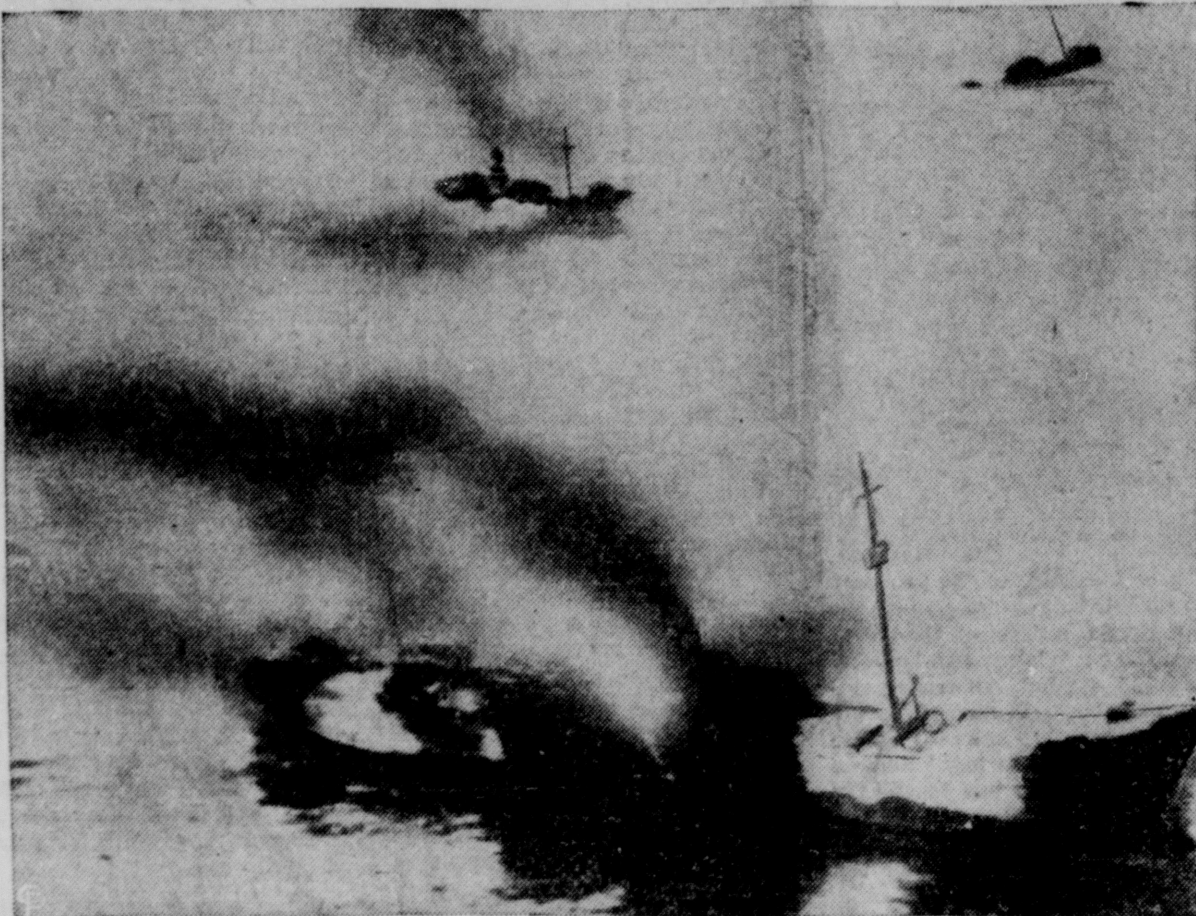

The lad fell into the swimming pool at the Costello home in Van Nuys after working a sial loose in his playpen and crawling through the opening. His mother, returning from an absence of a few minutes, found his body floating in the water.

Costello was at the studio doing a dress rehearsal of his show when he received news of the tragedy. The firemen still were trying to revive the boy when Costello reached home.

When it became apparent the lad could not be revived Dr. Victor Kovener ordered the comedian to bed, fearing over-excitement might cause heart complications, in view of the severe attack of rheumatic fever from which he has just recovered.

Costello insisted, however, that the radio program go as scheduled. He appeared at the studio white-faced, red-eyed and obviously shaken.

COAL OUTPUT AT LOW LEVEL

12,000,000 Tons Lost During Week As Union Men Mark Time

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Coal production remained at a low ebb today while miners and operators awaited the War Labor Board decision on the new wage pact.

The board scheduled a meeting today to vote approval or rejection of the contract negotiated between Federal Mine Custodian Harold L. Ickes and United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis to end the fourth wartime strike.

There were no definite signs concerning the WLB's ultimate verdict, although some members were said to have expressed doubt as to whether the contract met requirements of the national wage stabilization program. The 12-man board discussed the agreement for nearly six hours yesterday.

WLB approval of the pact would assure "peace" and steady production of coal during the period of government operation of the mines which must continue until normal productive efficiency is restored.

Rejection of the contract almost certainly would bring an immediate fifth general walkout and force a last ditch showdown between Lewis and the government to maintain production of war-vital coal. The government thus far has avoided general application of penalties of the Smith-Connally anti-strike law in the coal case.

Additional miners reported back to their jobs today, but full scale production is unlikely before Monday.

Usually in a coal strike the workers are reluctant to go back to the pits before the start of a new week. The nation stands to (Continued on Page Three)

SERGEANT WINS FINAL RATION BOARD DEBATE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 5—Technical Sgt. James W. McWhorter, field artillery officer of Atlanta, Ga., won his last argument with his Camp Robinson ration official and he was mighty well satisfied with himself today.

DAD OF EIGHT ACCEPTED FOR DUTY IN NAVY

Clarence Allison, 35-year-old father of eight youngsters, became a member of Uncle Sam's fast-growing Navy Friday in ceremonies which followed his acceptance Thursday. Allison was a member of a Pickaway county draft contingent which went to Columbus Thursday. After undergoing his physical examination, he was accepted for the navy.

Mr. Allison, a plumber by trade, did not return home Thursday night, but sent word to Mrs. Allison that he had been accepted and would stay overnight so he could be sworn into the navy Friday.

The plumber and other men accepted by the navy will leave next Friday for Great Lakes, Ill., to start their training.

Allison's family includes eight children from 13 years of age to one year of age. Under present dependency payment regulations, he and his family will draw $248 each month from the government. The sailor will receive a $50 check, but because of his dependents $22 will be withheld by the government. Mrs. Allison will receive $50, payment of $30 will be made for the first child and $20 for each of the other seven children.

The complete list of men accepted for Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Seabees will be announced as soon as the selective service board receives its official list from Columbus.

Reports indicate that a large percentage of acceptances will be announced to the local board. The delegation of 53 men included many other pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

BOY CONFESSES GRANDMOTHER'S BRUTAL MURDER

MEDIA, Pa., Nov. 5—Legal arrangements were to be made today to return Leonard (Buddy) Marcus, 15-year-old high school boy who confessed the strangulation murder of his step-grandmother, to New York City, where he faces a technical charge of homicide.

Two New York detectives arrived at nearby Wayne, where the youth was arrested yesterday, with a warrant charging him with murder. He was brought to Media today for the removal proceedings. Marcus, according to Wayne police, signed a confession admitting that he strangled Mrs. Jennie Flicker, 75, when she surprised him taking money from a secretary in his Bronx home. The high school student said his step-grandmother hit him with a lamp, and he "got angrier and angrier and grabbed her by the throat," according to police.

COUNT DENIES MURDER CHARGE

De Marigny Tells Court He Was In Bed When Sir Harry Was Slain

NASSAU, Nov. 5—Count Alfred De Marigny today underwent a grueling cross-examination—the most dramatic highlight of his sensational trial on charges of murdering his millionaire father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes.

The handsome young count, who took the witness stand voluntarily to speak in his own defense, replied in a firm voice to the direct question as to whether he had killed Sir Harry.

He insisted that the night of July 7-8—during which Sir Harry was bludgeoned and burned to death—he had spent at his own home. A few friends had been over during the evening, De Marigny insisted, and after driving two of his women guests to their home he had gone to bed.

Dramatic Denial

De Marigny's dramatic denial of guilt climaxed the 16th day of his trial. The count denied emphatically that he had been at Westbourne, Sir Harry's seaside villa, at any time the night the millionaire baronet was slain.

The count made a good impression on courtroom spectators, speaking readily—even glibly—with his slight French accent.

De Marigny said that Capt. Edward Melchen, of the Miami, Fla., homicide bureau, called into the case by the Duke of Windsor, had given him a third degree questioning. Melchen hinted he had witnesses who could testify they saw the count at 3 a. m. on July 8, within the three-hour period during which Oakes was slain.

"I told him," the count testified, "that I defy you or anyone else in Nassau to prove that, or that I had anything to do with the crime."

Melchen then shook his finger at him, De Marigny said, and demanded:

"Are you sure you did not come to this house (Westbourne) last night? Didn't you have something you wanted to straighten out with (Continued on Page Three)

GANGSTER'S DAD DIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5—John W. Dillinger, 79-year-old father of John Dillinger, notorious gangster slain by federal agents, was to be buried today beside his son for whom he provided a "decent funeral" at Crown Hill cemetery in Indianapolis. After the bank bandit and killer was slain by G-men outside a movie theatre in Chicago, the elder Dillinger toured the country with a carnival to lecture on "Crime Does Not Pay" with his son as the striking example.

Press Debate Centers On Likely Unconditional Surrender Demand

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5—An imminent move by Finland to negotiate peace with Russia was forecast today by the newspaper Social Demakraten which reported three Finnish diplomats had been asked to prepare to go to Moscow.

The fate of Finland, it was declared, "will be settled within the next few days."

Among those reportedly asked to hold themselves in readiness to fly to Moscow were Dr. Juho Paasikivi, former Finnish ambassador to Moscow and chief negotiator of the 1940 peace with Russia, George Achatos Gripenberg, Finland's minister to Stockholm, and K. A. Fagerholm, Finnish minister for social welfare.

U. S. May Act

The Social Demakraten said it was believed the United States and Sweden were acting as intermediaries in an effort to settle current hostilities between Russia and the Finns.

Suggestions on means of reaching an accord with Moscow have been forwarded by friends of Finland in Sweden to Dr. Paasikivi and Field Marshal Carl Mannerheim, according to the Dagens Nyheter. It was pointed out that Marshal Mannerheim has the support of the whole Finnish people and would serve well as a principal in negotiations and that Dr. Paasikivi knows the Russians better than anyone else. Dr. Paasikivi was well liked during his tenure in Moscow.

HARMON FAMILY CLINGS TO HOPE TOM IS ALIVE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 5—The parents of Lieut. Tom Harmon, one of America's all-time football greats, reported missing for the second time since he became an army flyer, refused today to give him up as dead.

Confronted by the grim message from the war department stating that young Harmon had been lost since October 30 somewhere in China, his mother, Mrs. Louis Harmon, declared:

"I know he'll come through again this time, too."

And "Fritz" Crisler, the University of Michigan football coach under whom Harmon sky-rocketed to national fame, displayed the same quiet confidence he expressed when Tommy parachuted from his bomber in a Brazilian jungle last April and was reported missing.

"If there's a chance to get through, Tommy will make it," he said.

The telegram received from the war department by Harmon's father, Louis, said:

"The secretary of war desires to express his regret by saying 2nd Lieut. Thomas D. Harmon has been reported missing in action over China since October 30."

Harmon, who was 24 last September, was an all-American half-back on the University of Michigan football team in 1939 and 1940.

He enlisted in the army air force in 1942.

TOUGHER TIMES AHEAD FOR U. S.

Nation Now Living Off Irreplaceable Fat, WPB Declares

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The American public, approaching the third winter of World War II, was warned by a War Production Board official today that "tougher times" are ahead in the supply of civilian goods and services.

He said this nation is "living off its fat" as far as clothing and durable goods are concerned and asserted that when the "fat" is gone, it will not be replaced.

"We are still buying many commodities made in the pre-Pearl Harbor days of 1940," the official declared. "Those items will soon be gone and we cannot hope to produce goods at the 1940 rate."

He said that although every effort is being made by WPB to keep the reduction rate on these items as low as possible, "we must tighten up our belts and expect to get less as the war goes on."

"Americans have been living better than they ever have before," said the official, who asked his name be withheld. "We have been living off the fat, but from here on in we will be producing only essential commodities. The War Production Board, certainly, does not plan to increase the fat."

Pointing out that the United States is confronted with a declining economy, he said "we cannot hope to maintain goods and services at present levels and we (Continued on Page Three)

DRAFT BOARD GOES TO WORK ON STRIKERS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 5—The government's "work or fight" policy took on added meaning today for at least 700 of the 2,950 steel-workers who walked out in protest against discharge of a CIO committeeman at National Steel Company's Spang-Chalfant plant.

Local draft board No. 3, in what was believed to be the first action of its kind in the Pittsburgh district, began immediately to reclassify eligible strikers into 1-A for early induction. There are more than 200 childless men, and 500 family men, all draft eligible, among the strikers.

Union officials, meanwhile, urged the striking war workers to "end their unauthorized walkout and get back on the job, so we can iron out your grievances in a regular way with the company." The plant was closed yesterday.

MacArthur Reveals Sinking Of Jap Cruiser And Four Destroyers

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—President Roosevelt announced today that the United States, Great Britain and China have agreed on joint operations on the continent of Asia against Japan.

The agreements between the three powers were made in the wake of the Moscow conference at a meeting of representatives of the three governments at Chungking, China.

President Roosevelt, in a grimly confident mood, told a news conference that the Chungking agreement means bad news for Japan.

By International News Service. British and American troops of Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army smashed through the broken Nazi defense lines at the western end of the front today and reached the Garigliano river.

Simultaneously American units on the Fifth Army's right wing plunged across the upper Volturno river in an attack aimed at the enemy's stronghold at Venafro. In their advance the Americans captured San Agatino.

The British navy also came into the battle today. At the eastern end of the line the destroyer Queensborough, having steamed into the Adriatic past the spur of the Italian boot, lay offshore and loosed her big guns at the Nazis around San Salvo. With this kind of heavy calibre support General Sir Bernard Montgomery's veteran Eighth Army leaped ahead and captured San Salvo.

Flying Fortresses of the newly-created 15th American Air Force also joined the fray—their second operation against the foe since organization of the new air group. Their target was the strategic railway running along Italy's western coast, a vital line of communications for German troops and supplies. The big sky birds severed the railway in several places between Leghorn and Civitavecchia, disrupting the important link in Field Marshal Erwin's Rommel's transport system.

CONVICT SLAIN, TWO HURT IN PRISON BREAK

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5—One prisoner was killed and two others wounded when six convicts attempted to break out of the state's Junction City prison farm, last night, Warden Frank D. Henderson of Ohio State penitentiary announced today.

The dead prisoner, according to prison officials, was Edward Hykes, 51, of New Philadelphia, who was serving a three to 50 year sentence for rape. He was shot in the head with a 30-calibre rifle. One guard, Nelson Palmer, suffered knife cuts in the scuffle.

The other wounded convicts were Robert McCall, of Butler county, serving 10 to 25 years for robbery and Alva Sowards of Gallia county, serving life for attempted bank robbery. McCall was shot in the leg, Sowards in the hand. All three men were shot by Guard Waldo McDonald, prison officials said.

The attempt came yesterday after the 5:30 p. m. "lockup" whistle was blown. The six men lingered in the recreation room and attacked Palmer with a club and a large butcher knife. Overcome and tied up, the guard was carried to the door which was then unlocked with his keys. When the prisoners emerged into the prison yard, Guard McDonald immediately opened fire from his tower station. After the three men were struck by flying bullets other guards rushed in to subdue the remaining three, who surrendered.

"He insisted that the night of July 7-8—during which Sir Harry was bludgeoned and burned to death—he had spent at his own home. A few friends had been over during the evening. De Marigny insisted, and after driving two of his women guests to their home he had gone to bed.

Dramatic Denial

De Marigny's dramatic denial of guilt climaxed the 16th day of his trial. The count denied emphatically that he had been at Westbourne, Sir Harry's seaside villa, at any time the night the millionaire baronet was slain.

The count made a good impression on courtroom spectators, speaking readily—even glibly—with his slight French accent.

De Marigny said that Capt. Edward Melchen, of the Miami, Fla., homicide bureau, called into the case by the Duke of Windsor, had given him a third degree questioning. Melchen hinted he had witnessed the count testify they saw the count at 3 a. m. on July 8, within the three-hour period during which Oakes was slain.

"I told him," the count testified, "that I defy you or anyone else in Nassau to prove that, or that I had anything to do with the crime."

Melchen then shook his finger at him, De Marigny said, and demanded:

"Are you sure you did not come to this house (Westbourne) last night? Didn't you have something you wanted to straighten out with (Continued on Page Three)

GANGSTER'S DAD DIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5—John W. Dillinger, 79-year-old father of John Dillinger, notorious gangster slain by federal agents, was to be buried today beside his son for whom he provided a "decent funeral" at Crown Hill cemetery in Indianapolis. After the bank bandit and killer was slain by G-men outside a movie theatre in Chicago, the elder Dillinger toured the country with a carnival to lecture on "Crime Does Not Pay" with his son as the striking example.

Press Debate Centers On Likely Unconditional Surrender Demand

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5—An imminent move by Finland to negotiate peace with Russia was forecast today by the newspaper Social Demokraten which reported three Finnish diplomats had been asked to prepare to go to Moscow.

The fate of Finland, it was declared, "will be settled within the next few days."

Among those reportedly asked to hold themselves in readiness to fly to Moscow were Dr. Juho Paasikivi, former Finnish ambassador to Moscow and chief negotiator of the 1940 peace with Russia, George Achates Gripenberg, Finland's minister to Stockholm, and K. A. Fagerholm, Finnish minister for social welfare.

U. S. May Act

The Social Demokraten said it was believed the United States and Sweden were acting as intermediaries in an effort to settle current hostilities between Russia and the Finns.

Suggestions on means of reaching an accord with Moscow have been forwarded by friends of Finland in Sweden to Dr. Paasikivi and Field Marshal Carl Mannerheim, according to the Dagens Nyheter. It was pointed out that Marshal Mannerheim has the support of the whole Finnish people and would serve well as a principal in negotiations and that Dr. Paasikivi knows the Russians better than anyone else. Dr. Paasikivi was well liked during his tenure in Moscow.

Many quarters believe that if these two men are given full power (Continued on Page Three)

HARMON FAMILY CLINGS TO HOPE TOM IS ALIVE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 5—The parents of Lieut. Tom Harmon, one of America's all-time football greats, reported missing for the second time since he became an army flyer, refused today to give him up as dead.

Confronted by the grim message from the war department stating that young Harmon had been lost since October 30 somewhere in China, his mother, Mrs. Louis Harmon, declared:

"I know he'll come through again this time, too."

And "Fritz" Crisler, the University of Michigan football coach under whom Harmon sky-rocketed to national fame, displayed the same quiet confidence he expressed when Tommy parachuted from his bomber in a Brazilian jungle last April and was reported missing.

"If there's a chance to get through, Tommy will make it," he said.

The telegram received from the war department by Harmon's father, Louis, said:

"The secretary of war desires to express his regret by saying 2nd Lieut. Thomas D. Harmon has been reported missing in action over China since October 30."

Harmon, who was 24 last September, was an all-American half-back on the University of Michigan football team in 1939 and 1940.

He enlisted in the army air force in 1942.

Bests Bombs

DISCOVERY of a live 500-pound bomb in a Grumman Avenger torpedo plane that, on contact, would have exploded and destroyed the hangar near which it was standing failed to perturb Lieut. Comdr. Thomas W. McKnight, above, McKnight, stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., stepped into the plane and took off. Refusing to parachute to the ground and let the $150,000 plane and its deadly load crash harmlessly into the sea, the officer rocked the plane back and forth until bomb was dislodged. TOUGHER TIMES AHEAD FOR U. S.

Nation Now Living Off Irreplaceable Fat, WPB Declares

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The American public, approaching the third Winter of World War II, was warned by a War Production Board official today that "tougher times" are ahead in the supply of civilian goods and services.

He said this nation is "living off its fat" as far as clothing and durable goods are concerned and asserted that when the "fat" is gone, it will not be replaced.

"We are still buying many commodities made in the pre-Pearl Harbor days of 1940," the official declared. "Those items will soon be gone and we cannot hope to produce goods at the 1940 rate."

He said that although every effort is being made by WPB to keep the reduction rate on these items as low as possible, "we must tighten up our belts and expect to get less as the war goes on."

"Americans have been living better than they ever have before," said the official, who asked his name be withheld. "We have been living off the fat, but from here on in we will be producing only essential commodities. The War Production Board, certainly, does not plan to increase the fat."

Pointing out that the United States is confronted with a declining economy, he said "we cannot hope to maintain goods and services at present levels and we (Continued on Page Three)

DRAFT BOARD GOES TO WORK ON STRIKERS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 5—The government's "work or fight" policy took on added meaning today for at least 700 of the 2,950 steel-workers who walked out in protest against discharge of a CIO committeeman at National Steel Company's Spang-Chalfant plant.

Local draft board No. 3, in what was believed to be the first action of its kind in the Pittsburgh district, began immediately to re-classify eligible strikers into 1-A for early induction. There are more than 200 childless men, and 500 family men, all draft eligible, among the strikers.

Union officials, meanwhile, urged the striking war workers to "end their unauthorized walkout and get back on the job, so we can iron out your grievances in a regular way with the company." The plant was closed yesterday.

MacArthur Reveals Sinking Of Jap Cruiser And Four Destroyers

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—President Roosevelt announced today that the United States, Great Britain and China have agreed on joint operations on the continent of Asia against Japan.

The agreements between the three powers were made in the wake of the Moscow conference at a meeting of representatives of the three governments at Chungking, China.

President Roosevelt, in a grimly confident mood, told a news conference that the Chungking agreement means bad news for Japan.

By International News Service. British and American troops of Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army smashed through the broken Nazi defense lines at the western end of the front today and reached the Garigliano river.

Simultaneously American units on the Fifth Army's right wing plunged across the upper Volturno river in an attack aimed at the enemy's stronghold at Venafro. In their advance the Americans captured San Agatino.

The British navy also came into the battle today. At the eastern end of the line the destroyer Queensborough, having steamed into the Adriatic past the spur of the Italian boot, lay offshore and loosed her big guns at the Nazis around San Salvo. With this kind of heavy calibre support General Sir Bernard Montgomery's veteran Eighth Army leaped ahead and captured San Salvo.

Flying Fortresses of the newly-created 15th American Air Force also joined the fray—their second operation against the foe since organization of the new air group. Their target was the strategic railway running along Italy's western coast, a vital line of communications for German troops and supplies. The big sky birds severed the railway in several places between Leghorn and Civitavecchia, disrupting the important link in Field Marshal Erwin's Rommel's transport system.

CONVICT SLAIN, TWO HURT IN PRISON BREAK

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5—One prisoner was killed and two others wounded when six convicts attempted to break out of the state's Junction City prison farm, last night, Warden Frank D. Henderson of Ohio State penitentiary announced today.

The dead prisoner, according to prison officials, was Edward Hykes, 51, of New Philadelphia, who was serving a three to 50 year sentence for rape. He was shot in the head with a 30-calibre rifle. One guard, Nelson Palmer, suffered knife cuts in the scuffle.

The other wounded convicts were Robert McCall, of Butler county, serving 10 to 25 years for robbery and Alva Sowards of Gallia county, serving life for attempted bank robbery. McCall was shot in the leg. Sowards in the hand. All three men were shot by Guard Waldo McDonald, prison officials said.

The attempt came yesterday after the 5:30 p. m. "lockup" whistle was blown. The six men lingered in the recreation room and attacked Palmer with a club and a large butcher knife. Overcome and tied up, the guard was carried to the door which was then unlocked with his keys. When the prisoners emerged into the prison yard, Guard McDonald immediately opened fire from his tower station. After the three men were struck by flying bullets other guards rushed in to subdue the remaining three, who surrendered.

Results From Moscow Better Than Expected By Washington Circles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 — Hard-boiled members of the diplomatic corps whose countries' lives hung in the balance at Moscow have now microscopically examined the texts and come to certain definite conclusions. These are:

1. Moscow achieved more than the diplomats expected, but less than the window-dressing has now led the public to believe.
2. The word "finis" was written under the Baltic states—Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia. Though not mentioned in the texts, they will be taken over by Russia.
3. Poland's future will depend entirely on how far it is willing to cooperate with Russia. If it plays ball, Poland can live peacefully beside Russia as a cooperating Slav state. If it doesn't play ball, it will be largely gobbled up.
4. Although no definite agreements were reached on many things, machinery was organized for future agreement. This may be most important of all.

Difficult problems have to be threshed out gradually and the proof of the pudding is in the eating.

BALTIC STATES DISAPPEAR

Reading between the lines and piecing together the diplomatic grapevine reports leaking back from Moscow, diplomats have arrived at the conclusion that Stalin took exactly the same stand regarding the Baltic states at Moscow as he has in the past—that the Baltics were no more up for discussion than is the return of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California to Mexico. The Baltic states, according to the Soviet view, were carved out of the old Russian Empire when she was prostrate and helpless during the last war, and were deliberately constructed by British imperialists in order to shut Leningrad off from the sea.

Stalin has made it clear that he would no more permit foreign states along the Gulf of Finland than we would permit small independent republics to be set up in Connecticut and Long Island guarding the entrance to New York harbor.

As reported in this column in the Spring of 1942, Molotov secured an agreement from the British at that time for the return of the Baltic states and one-half of Poland to Russia. But the United States objected. Diplomats now concluded that at Moscow, Secretary Hull withdrew that objection and fell back on the U. S. declaration at Riga of April 6, 1922, when the Baltic states were first recognized. It was then said:

"It is entirely possible or even probable that sometime in the indefinite future these so-called states may once again become an integral part of Russia."

POLAND'S POSITION

Most significant portion of the Moscow pact, and the only one signed by Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill, was regarding punishment for atrocities.

Buried in the text of this agreement is an insignificant-appearing, but nevertheless most important statement that "Germans who take part in wholesale shooting of Polish officers . . . will be brought back to the scene of their crimes," etc.

This settles once and for all the question which has bitterly disturbed Russian-Polish relations, namely the massacre of 10,000 Polish officers at Smolensk, and the Polish-German claim that actually they were massacred by Russians. Roosevelt and Churchill now have signed their names to a declaration which puts the blame squarely on the Nazis and leaves no room for argument.

The fact that this one pact was singled out above all the others for the signature of Stalin, Roosevelt, and Churchill indicates the importance the Russians attached to it. This, plus the fact that the British had already agreed in 1942 to restore Russian Poland to Poland, is viewed by diplomats to mean that Poland's future is largely up to her ability to keep on friendly terms with Russia.

It is believed that Stalin consented to hold up any partition of Poland, as originally agreed with the British, and to wait and see how many things worked out. This was in return for American prom-

Author of "This Is the Army"

PREPARATIONS are moving along at a fast clip for the premiere showing of "This Is the Army," scheduled next Tuesday at the Grand theatre. Above is shown Irving Berlin, author of the show, who contributed the entire check given him by Warner Brothers for theatre rights to the Army Emergency Relief fund. All money collected from tickets at Tuesday night's premiere will also go to the Army Emergency Relief fund. George C. Griffith, chairman of the ticket sales committee, urged Circleville residents to buy premiere tickets for themselves, he asked business houses to buy blocks for their store employees, civic clubs to buy blocks, and industrial plants to cooperate by taking tickets to the show. The song Berlin is singing in the picture above is "Some Day I'm Going to Murder the Bugler," one of the features of the great show.

NEW HOLLAND PURPLE HEART PLANS TRIBUTE WEARER HOME TO SERVICE MEN ON FURLOUGH

New Holland community is planning one of its biggest celebrations Armistice Day when the village's Honor Roll, paying tribute to all men and women of the community who have entered their country's service, will be unveiled.

The Honor Roll has been built in the center of the village where every person passing through New Holland may see it and where every resident of the village will pass it each time he is in the business district.

The Honor Roll includes names of more than 200 villagers who have gone into uniform.

A public subscription program provided finances which paid for the board's construction. Churches, schools, parents of the people in service, village officials and patriotic organizations will participate in the Honor Roll unveiling.

Persons having leading roles in the Honor Roll board's construction and in the unveiling program will include Mrs. Roscoe Shipley, executive chairman of the Honor Roll committee; the Rev. V. C. Stump, head of the dedication program committee which also includes Harold Costlow, Warren E. Hobbie, Cyril Doan, commander of Arch post American Legion, and Mrs. Warren M. Arthur, president of the American Legion auxiliary.

EARLY MAILING OF CHRISTMAS GIFTS URGED

Circleville postoffice, faced with a manpower shortage which also is affecting other postoffices throughout the nation, issued an appeal Friday to its Circleville and Pickaway county patrons to mail Christmas gifts in November.

Delivery of the annual flood of holiday gifts and cards on time will be more than a problem this year, the postoffice points out. It will be an impossibility unless the public cooperates by mailing gifts in November.

Transportation facilities are burdened to the limit with war materials and personnel, and the postal service has sent more than 31,000 experienced employees into the Army and Navy. The only solution to the Christmas problem is: Mail in November. Mark parcels, "do not open until Christmas." That is in November. Mark parcels, "do not open until Christmas." That is in November. Mark parcels, "do not open until Christmas." That is in November.

It is also the only way to avoid the possibility of a Christmas emergency in the transportation and postal services. If the public will cooperate by mailing their Christmas parcels during November, the office can handle a small volume of light, last-minute mailings, such as cards, up to December 10—but this can be done and avoid an emergency only if November is really "Christmas Mailing Month."

Postal officials pointed out that the volume of mail now is far above any previous records, that railway cars by the hundreds have been diverted to war service and that the air lines have only about half as many planes as they once operated.

More than 200,000 extra temporary employees normally are employed to help with the holiday postal rush. This year, the extra employees will be largely women and high school boys and girls who are unable to work the long hours usually required and whose work will be relatively slow.

To deliver the Christmas mails on time, therefore, it is necessary that mailings be spread out over a longer period so that available transportation equipment and postal personnel can be used during more weeks. It will be impossible to make the deliveries by Christmas if mailers wait until the last three weeks before the holiday, as in normal years.

There is another reason for shopping and mailing earlier than ever before. Retail stores are short-handed. Purchasers can avoid shopping in crowded stores, long waits for service, and other inconveniences of late shopping if they buy now. They will also doubtless have a better choice of merchandise than will be available later.

PROJECTS FOR YEAR OUTLINED TO TEACHERS

Various projects to be undertaken during the school year in the county system were outlined Thursday when Pickaway county superintendents met with George D. McDowell, county superintendent.

Several schools are contemplating starting out of school youth and adult vocational agriculture programs as suggested by the state department, but so far all arrangements have not been worked out. Tentative plans call for five courses to be conducted.

A letter was read also from Lockbourne army air base officials seeking assistance of teachers in providing instruction in various courses. More information is also sought about this project, Mr. McDowell said.

Reports of increasing sales of War Bonds and Stamps in the various schools were received, all superintendents reporting cooperation among children of the various buildings.

Schools of the county and the city will be closed next Thursday, Armistice Day, while all classes will be suspended November 25 and 26 for the Thanksgiving holiday.

YANKS, BRITISH STAGE ADVANCE TO GARIGLIANO

Flying Fortresses Join In Fray, Pounding Vital Supply Railroad

Northward advance of our armies place the Allies within 68 miles of Rome.

Russ Continue Advance From the Russian front came further reports of sweeping Soviet successes and details of the slaughter of more than 5,000 Nazi officers and men during Thursday's fighting. Red Army drives during the last 24 hours placed more than 100 towns and villages back in Russian hands.

In the province of Nikolaev the Soviets reoccupied the centers of three important districts and in that area—between the Dnieper river and the Black sea—more than 2,000 Nazis were slain yesterday and vast amounts of war material were captured or demolished.

Southwest of Nevel the Red Army fought through to capture Litvinovo, only 53 miles from the Latvian frontier, while in the Black sea fighting sector the Russians swept ahead in a 15-mile advance to take the town of Alekshid, on the south side of the Dnieper and only three miles from the important port of Kherson. Capture of Kherson is imminent.

In fact, since the Moscow communiqué was issued early today this strategic harbor may already have fallen into Soviet hands.

British Bomb Reich The Nazis within the Reich also caught another pasting in the pre-dawn hours today. Throughout the night Royal Air Force bombers winged across the English channel, continuing the new cycle of large-scale attacks on Hitler's European fortress which began Wednesday with the tremendously powerful American raid on Wilhelmshaven.

Targets in western Germany were pounded during the night, the air ministry in London revealed today, and mines were laid in German waters. Four British planes were lost during the night.

This wasn't Herr Hitler's worst headache today however, for there was every indication that his Finnish ally is about to follow the footsteps of Italy and sue for peace.

Japs Take Pasting With Finland out of the war, large numbers of Red Army troops would be released from the long, Russo-Finnish Arctic front and would instantly become available to slam into the Nazis elsewhere.

From his headquarters in the southwest Pacific General Douglas MacArthur revealed the sinking of one Jap cruiser and four destroyers, part of an enemy naval squadron of 12 ships which vainly tried to intercept the landing of U. S. Marines on Bougainville island last Monday and Tuesday.

Two other cruisers and two more destroyers were damaged in the action, MacArthur said. The Jap radio claimed 10 Allied warships and transports were sunk in the fight, but MacArthur said no Allied ships were lost. Some damage and casualties were suffered he said, but all Allied ships remained afloat.

WRA Calls Troops After Aliens Severely Beat Night Watchman

camp came last Monday when thousands of Japanese internees held more than 100 American employees hostages in an attempt to enforce demands and obtain concessions from Dillon Meyer, national director of the WRA.

After the lunch hour Monday the Japs congregated around the administration building. They came in droves, and overran the low barred wire fence which formed a deadline they were not supposed to cross.

One group, numbering nearly a thousand, stopped at the hospital to have it out with Dr. Reece M. Peticord, chief surgeon of the camp who was severely beaten.

The main group appeared at the administration building, and representatives of the Japs entered the administration offices. These Japs made demands on the administration, specifically requesting replacement of Dr. Peticord, and made it plain that they were holding the staff of the camp as hostages at the time.

Pledged to Japan All Japs interned at Tule Lake are pledged to allegiance with Japan.

When Jap prisoners refused to work in the fields WRA officials called for volunteers in Japanese relocation centers outside California to work in the Tule Lake harvest fields.

Three hundred volunteers were obtained and brought to Tule Lake, arriving there by design or coincidence almost simultaneously with the arrival of National WRA Director Meyer on an inspection tour.

Jap internees then "framed" a demonstration by spreading word throughout the camp that Meyer was going to make a speech in which he would discuss demands of the camp dwellers for more meat and luxuries not available within the camp. Meyer had scheduled no such speech but he was virtually compelled to give an impromptu talk when several thousand Japs gathered around the administration building.

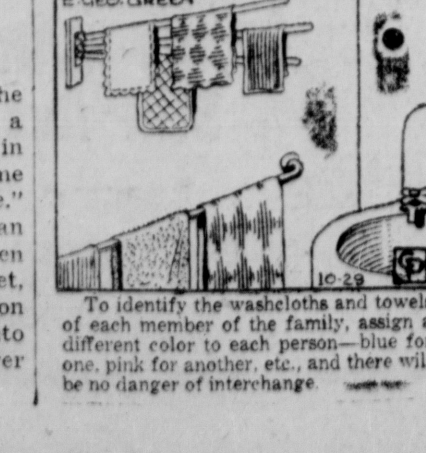

Meyer declined to consider any "demands" presented by the assembled throng. He advised them to submit "requests," which would be given due consideration. His ominous audience applauded him, then dispersed.

Col. John Austin, commanding officer of the army battalion stationed at Tule Lake, declined to comment on the present situation.

To observers within the camp, however, it was obvious that the army had "taken over."

ARMY INVADERS CITY SEEKING DEPOT WORKERS

Army men and civil service employees invaded Circleville Friday in a manpower recruiting campaign. The object of the project is to find employees to work at the Army Service Forces Depot, Columbus, from where supplies of all sorts are sent in great quantities to American forces in all theatres of war.

Included in the contingent were several technicians from the Army Depot, who drove pieces of Army equipment to the city. The Army men brought a combat car with an anti-aircraft gun mounted, a shop truck loaded with repair equipment the kind which is moved directly to the front to keep war implements going, a jeep and a 'duck,' used in land and amphibious service.

Civil service men were consulting some Circleville and Pickaway county men who are available for work, and indications are that the recruiting campaign may be a success here. Commission employees, working with the United States Employment Service, said their campaign conducted in Lancaster earlier in the week fell below expectations. Local industry and war plants in Columbus have absorbed most of the available men here, but some who are out of work appeared to be interviewed.

The recruiting force will remain in Circleville all day Friday and Saturday.

Friday afternoon, some members of the delegation went to Ashville and Mount Sterling in search of workmen.

FIVE PRISONERS GET FIRST FOOD SINCE SATURDAY

Food in small amounts was given Friday to five prisoners, the first three of them have had since last Saturday morning, when a jail break plot came to a head at the Pickaway county jail.

Mrs. Charles Radcliff, wife of the sheriff, and jail matron, said the bread and water diet which had been ordered Saturday for Kenneth Knece, principal in the break; Harold Dufore, who choked the sheriff while Knece got away, and Charles Roy Boggs, caught a few minutes after the break, was ended Friday morning.

"But the amount of food these fellows are getting will be small for a while," the sheriff's wife said. Mrs. Radcliff is still angry because of the break. Her first knowledge of the plot came when she looked through the kitchen door and saw her husband on the floor with Dufore on top of him choking him.

Knece enjoyed about seven hours of freedom before he was caught by posmen.

Two others who were on bread and water for the last two days for smuggling cigarettes to the jail breakers were also permitted food Friday. They are Harold Knece, brother of Kenneth, and Ben Schwalbaugh.

The older Knece, Dufore and Boggs are still confined to their cells.

are running out of pre-Pearl Harbor goods. We cannot hope to replace those goods at the present consumption rate."

Meanwhile, however, on the food front civilians faced a somewhat brighter picture. The government recently eased up ration point values on most meat cuts (other than beef), took coffee off the rationing list, promised more citrus fruit, canned peaches, peas, cat-soup and dried peas and beans.

In order to check up on just how the public is weathering wartime shortages, WPA's office of civilian requirements has requested the bureau of census to visit 7,000 American households to count pots and pans, clothing, hairpins, farm supplies, electric irons and, altogether, 115 types of goods and services which have been scarce or lacking since Pearl Harbor.

This poll, it was explained, will give WPA information on what goods and services must be boosted in order to maintain the essential civilian economy.

Already, WPA has given the green light to certain small durable goods, such as pots, pans and knives and expects to allow production of some electric flatirons.

FIVE PRISONERS GET FIRST FOOD SINCE SATURDAY

Food in small amounts was given Friday to five prisoners, the first three of them have had since last Saturday morning, when a jail break plot came to a head at the Pickaway county jail.

Mrs. Charles Radcliff, wife of the sheriff, and jail matron, said the bread and water diet which had been ordered Saturday for Kenneth Knece, principal in the break; Harold Dufore, who choked the sheriff while Knece got away, and Charles Roy Boggs, caught a few minutes after the break, was ended Friday morning.

"But the amount of food these fellows are getting will be small for a while," the sheriff's wife said. Mrs. Radcliff is still angry because of the break. Her first knowledge of the plot came when she looked through the kitchen door and saw her husband on the floor with Dufore on top of him choking him.

Knece enjoyed about seven hours of freedom before he was caught by posmen.

Two others who were on bread and water for the last two days for smuggling cigarettes to the jail breakers were also permitted food Friday. They are Harold Knece, brother of Kenneth, and Ben Schwalbaugh.

The older Knece, Dufore and Boggs are still confined to their cells.

er to act by the Finnish government they could save Finland.

Advices from Finland indicated a pessimistic outlook there as a result of the recently concluded Moscow tripartite conference. It is felt that Finland had lost much by neglecting to set to work seriously in the question of establishing a peace, reports to the Dagens Nyheter said.

Finnish quarters were said to feel now that Finland hardly would be able to get a separate peace and at best could hope for a separate armistice.

Characteristic press debate in Finland centers on the question of whether the stipulation of unconditional surrender will be applied also to Finland.

Reports that the Finnish government already has tried to contact Russia evidently have no basis in fact.

Regarding the possibility that the United States or a more reserved England would be willing to offer their services in an attempt to mediate, the Dagens Nyheter said the chances appeared small. It was explained that an attempt to mediate in the Spring was refused by the Finnish foreign minister after a visit to Berlin.

The newspaper went on to say, however, that application of the unconditional surrender policy to Finland would result in strong opposition. In this paper's opinion Finland would ask for clear stipulations during any armistice and full information on conditions for an eventual peace.

Finland, it is felt, now can get full information only by taking the initiative and addressing proposals direct to Russia.

FINCH MURDER CASE OPENS IN INDIANA COURT

Testimony was started Friday in Connersville, Ind., in the first degree murder trial of Charles Finch, 46, alias Donald Eugene Carson, formerly of Williamsport. Finch is charged with the murder five years ago of Joseph Schoenfeld, Indiana farmer, with a heavy railroad spike.

The trial was opened Monday, but the first four days of the week were needed to select a jury. Sheriff Charles Radcliff, whose efforts revealed Finch to be the man wanted in Indiana, talked with the Connersville prosecutor Thursday night and was told that so many residents of the county and city had formed opinions about the case that selection of a jury was difficult. The sheriff has been asked to testify against Finch next week.

It was while Finch was in the county jail that he was identified as the man wanted in the killing. A check of his fingerprints made by the FBI revealed him to be the suspect. Finch was held here on a failure to provide charge. He has two similar charges pending against him in Connersville.

ESHELMAN CO. PURCHASES $300 "ARMY" TICKETS

"This Is the Army," great all-soldier show which will be premiered Tuesday night at the Grand theatre, was given a boost Friday when the J. W. Esheleman and Sons Company purchased $300 worth of tickets for its employees.

Announcement of the purchase of the block of tickets was made by George Griffith, chairman of the committee handling ticket sales.

All money collected for the show will be presented to the Army Emergency Relief Fund, the theatre management announcing that a capacity audience will mean $1,800 poured into the important fund's coffers by Circleville folk.

Other Circleville industrial plants and business houses are planning to cooperate with the "This Is the Army" committee by buying blocks of tickets. Announcement of other purchasers will be made by Mr. Griffith as soon as the tickets are bought.

GEORGE F. MILLER DIES

A heart ailment was pronounced cause of the death of George Frederick Miller Thursday night at his home in Shadeville. The report was made by Dr. E. E. Smith, coroner of Franklin county, when called by neighbors who found Mr. Miller dead in his bed at 8:30 a. m. Friday. Mr. Miller, who was 76 years old, was a bachelor. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Burdell, Hundley, 122 York street, and one brother, Dan D. Miller, of Columbus. Funeral services will be held at the Defenbaugh chapel Monday at 2:30 p. m. with burial in Forest cemetery.

Sir Harry? And didn't you come here and hit him?"

De Marigny said he replied emphatically in the negative.

The count declared that at 3 a. m. on the night of the murder he was home in bed. He established the exact time when his lawyer asked him whether he had slept through the whole night.

"No" the count replied, "at about 3 a. m. the cat began fighting with my puppy. The cat entered my room and jumped up between the venetian blinds and the window and woke me up."

"About this time I heard the Chevrolet going out of the driveway and I figured it was Georges (Marquis Georges de Visdelou) taking Betty (Miss Betty Roberts) home. He returned in about 15 minutes and I told him to take his cat out of my room. Then I went back to sleep."

If the Marquis confirms this testimony—which he undoubtedly will—De Marigny thereby establishes his whereabouts at 3:15 a. m.

FRED A. SMITH MAY RETURN ON WOUNDED LEAVE

Corporal Fred A. Smith, wounded in the successful Thirty-Seventh Division fight for the Munda air base and still carrying a Japanese bullet in his chest, may arrive in Circleville during the next week on a convalescent furlough.

His mother, Mrs. E. E. Smith, was informed Friday in a letter from her son that he is in the Denver Army hospital and that he has been told he may be permitted to come home for a while.

Army physicians have informed him that they do not plan to remove the bullet immediately, permitting him time to gain more strength before the operation is performed.

WOMAN WRITTEN IN FOR COUNCIL DECLINES POST

Mrs. Jennie Beatty of Darbyville, whose name was written on the ballot in that village Tuesday for a council job, notified the Pickaway county board of election Friday that she is not interested in the office.

Mrs. Beatty received 37 votes for the council post, the same number given to Mrs. Ethel Miller. With Mrs. Beatty's withdrawal, the post goes to Mrs. Miller.

Both women had been notified to appear at the election board office Saturday night at which time ties will be settled. A tie exists for a justice of peace job in Salt-creek township and for constable in Wayne township.

In combat areas it takes two soldiers to supply one fighting man in the front line.

northward advance of our armies place the Allies within 68 miles of Rome.

Russ Continue Advance

From the Russian front came further reports of sweeping Soviet successes and details of the slaughter of more than 5,000 Nazi officers and men during Thursday's fighting. Red Army drives during the last 24 hours placed more than 100 towns and villages back in Russian hands.

In the province of Nikolaev the Soviets reoccupied the centers of three important districts and in that area—between the Dnieper river and the Black sea—more than 2,000 Nazis were slain yesterday and vast amounts of war material were captured or demolished.

Southwest of Nevel the Red Army fought through to capture Litvinovo, only 53 miles from the Latvian frontier, while in the Black sea fighting sector the Russians swept ahead in a 15-mile advance to take the town of Alekski, on the south side of the Dnieper and only three miles from the important port of Kherson. Capture of Kherson is imminent—in fact, since the Moscow communication was issued early today this strategic harbor may already have fallen into Soviet hands.

British Bomb Reich

The Nazis within the Reich also caught another pasting in the pre-dawn hours today. Throughout the night Royal Air Force bombers winged across the English channel, continuing the new cycle of large-scale attacks on Hitler's European fortress which began Wednesday with the tremendously powerful American raid on Wilhelmshaven.

Targets in western Germany were pounded during the night, the air ministry in London revealed today, and mines were laid in German waters. Four British planes were lost during the night. This wasn't Herr Hitler's worst headache today however, for there was every indication that his Finnish ally is about to follow the footsteps of Italy and sue for peace.

Japs Take Pasting

With Finland out of the war, large numbers of Red Army troops would be released from the long, Russo-Finnish Arctic front and would instantly become available to slam into the Nazis elsewhere.

From his headquarters in the southwest Pacific General Douglas MacArthur revealed the sinking of one Jap cruiser and four destroyers, part of an enemy naval squadron of 12 ships which vainly tried to intercept the landing of U. S. Marines on Bougainville island last Monday and Tuesday. Two other cruisers and two more destroyers were damaged in the action, MacArthur said.

The Jap radio claimed 10 Allied warships and transports were sunk in the fight, but MacArthur said no Allied ships were lost. Some damage and casualties were suffered he said, but all Allied ships remained afloat.

NIP UPRISING AT TULE LAKE UNDER CONTROL

camp came last Monday when thousands of Japanese internees held more than 100 American employees hostages in an attempt to enforce demands and obtain concessions from Dillon Meyer, national director of the WRA.

After the lunch hour Monday the Japs congregated around the administration building. They came in droves, and overran the low barred wire fence which formed a deadline they were not supposed to cross.

One group, numbering nearly a thousand, stopped at the hospital to have it out with Dr. Reece M. Peticord, chief surgeon of the camp who was severely beaten.

The main group appeared at the administration building, and representatives of the Japs entered the administration offices. These Japs made demands on the administration, specifically requesting replacement of Dr. Peticord, and made it plain that they were holding the staff of the camp as hostages at the time.

Pledged to Japan

All Japs interned at Tule Lake are pledged to allegiance with Japan.

When Jap prisoners refused to work in the fields WRA officials called for volunteers in Japanese relocation centers outside California to work in the Tule Lake harvest fields.

Three hundred volunteers were obtained and brought to Tule Lake, arriving there by design or coincidence almost simultaneously with the arrival of National WRA Director Myer on an inspection tour.

Jap internees then "framed" a demonstration by spreading word throughout the camp that Myer was going to make a speech in which he would discuss demands of the camp dwellers for more meat and luxuries not available within the camp. Myer had scheduled no such speech but he was virtually compelled to give an impromptu talk when several thousand Japs gathered around the administration building.

Myer declined to consider any "demands" presented by the assembled throng. He advised them to submit "requests," which would be given due consideration. His ominous audience applauded him, then dispersed.

Col. John Austin, commanding officer of the army battalion stationed at Tule Lake, declined to comment on the present situation.

To observers within the camp, however, it was obvious that the army had "taken over."

ARMY INVADES CITY SEEKING DEPOT WORKERS

Army men and civil service employees invaded Circleville Friday in a manpower recruiting campaign. The object of the project is to find employees to work at the Army Service Forces Depot, Columbus, from where supplies of all sorts are sent in great quantities to American forces in all theatres of war.

Included in the contingent were several technicians from the Army Depot, who drove pieces of Army equipment to the city. The Army men brought a combat car with an anti-aircraft gun mounted, a shop truck loaded with repair equipment the kind which is moved directly to the front to keep war implements going, a jeep and a 'duck,' used in land and amphibious service.

Civil service men were consulting some Circleville and Pickaway county men who are available for work, and indications are that the recruiting campaign may be a success here. Commission employees, working with the United States Employment Service, said their campaign conducted in Lancaster earlier in the week fell below expectations. Local industry and war plants in Columbus have absorbed most of the available men here, but some who are out of work appeared to be interviewed.

The recruiting force will remain in Circleville all day Friday and Saturday.

Friday afternoon, some members of the delegation went to Ashville and Mount Sterling in search of workmen.

lose nearly all of the normal 12,000,000 tons of coal production this week.

Ickes and Lewis worked out the new wage agreement Wednesday and sent it the same day to the WLB for approval under President Roosevelt's order providing for seizure of the mines. The agreement provides an extra 37 1/2 cents beyond the basic daily wage approved late last month by the WLB.

If the board approves the contract, the next step will be to obtain a coal price increase to cover the added production costs. Ickes is expected to petition OPA for the increase immediately after the board's decision. Previously, it was estimated that an increase of 23 cents per ton would be necessary in the Illinois fields for which the agreement originally was drawn. OPA promised last Summer to grant a price boost to cover any increase in wages allowed the miners by WLB.

During recent hearings before the board in the coal disputes, Appalachian mine owners contended they would need much larger price increase, estimating that the total added cost to consumers would be approximately $300,000,000 annually on their coal bill.

Bituminous miners under the Ickes-Lewis pact get $1.20 an hour and anthracite miners 70 cents.

Meanwhile, however, on the food front civilians faced a somewhat brighter picture. The government recently eased up ration point values on most meat cuts (other than beef), took coffee off the rationing list, promised more citrus fruit, canned peaches, peas, cat-soup and dried peas and beans.

In order to check up on just how the public is weathering wartime shortages, WPA's office of civilian requirements has requested the bureau of census to visit 7,000 American households to count pots and pans, clothing, hairpins, farm supplies, electric irons and, altogether, 115 types of goods and services which have been scarce or lacking since Pearl Harbor.

This poll, it was explained, will give WPA information on what goods and services must be boosted in order to maintain the essential civilian economy.

Already, WPA has given the green light to certain small durable goods, such as pots, pans and knives and expects to allow production of some electric flatirons.

FRED A. SMITH MAY RETURN ON WOUNDED LEAVE

Corporal Fred A. Smith, wounded in the successful Thirty-Seventh Division fight for the Munda air base and still carrying a Japanese bullet in his chest, may arrive in Circleville during the next week on a convalescent furlough.

His mother, Mrs. E. E. Smith, was informed Friday in a letter from her son that he is in the Denver Army hospital and that he has been told he may be permitted to come home for a while.

Army physicians have informed him that they do not plan to remove the bullet immediately, permitting him time to gain more strength before the operation is performed.

WOMAN WRITTEN IN FOR COUNCIL DECLINES POST

Mrs. Jennie Beatty of Darbyville, whose name was written on the ballot in that village Tuesday for a council job, notified the Pickaway county board of election Friday that she is not interested in the office.

Mrs. Beatty received 37 votes for the council post, the same number given to Mrs. Ethel Miller. With Mrs. Beatty's withdrawal, the post goes to Mrs. Miller.

Both women had been notified to appear at the election board office Saturday night at which time ties will be settled. A tie exists for a justice of peace job in Salt-creek township and for constable in Wayne township.

In combat areas it takes two soldiers to supply one fighting man in the front line.

TO CITY OFFICIALS

ADMINISTRATION: Several times in recent weeks warnings have been issued to boys, girls and the general public against certain practices which now break city ordinances. Boys and girls are to be off the streets by 10:30 at night. There have been many violations of this ordinance, and it can be expected that violations will continue with the police department so undermanned as it is now. Another decree was sent from City Hall that youngsters riding bicycles on sidewalks and endangering pedestrians would have their cycles taken from them. This can be done under a city ordinance. But the corridor at City Hall, where confiscated bikes would be kept, has remained empty. There have been many violations of this decree, too. But, again, the police department is undermanned, a close survey of the streets being impossible. And now comes a declaration that persons violating regulations set up under the parking meter ordinance must put up $1 for their violations instead of the five cents which has been taken up to this time. It isn't farm folk, nor travelers who are breaking the meter ordinance, but Circleville persons who travel into the business district almost every day. One man was heard to say the other day that "I have never put money into those meters and I don't intend to." He is in the uptown district almost daily. These meters have been in service long enough that every one should know how they operate. Chiselers who intend to try to defraud the city should be fined, and they should receive publicity. Those meters were put in primarily to help solve the parking situation, and they have answered this purpose. Rural folk who always had difficulty in parking are now wholeheartedly in favor of the program. Second purpose of the meters was to raise money for the city. This is being done, too, but persons who park then refuse to deposit their pennies, nickles or dimes certainly do not have the best interests of their city or their neighbors at heart. They should be penalized.

TO MAYOR GORDON

YOUR HONOR: Congratulations on your election to a second term. It is deserved, and I hope it proves successful.

CIRCUITEER.

TO COMMUNITY CHEST

TRUSTEES: Circleville and Pickaway county residents were pleased to learn that you will not conduct a Community Chest campaign this year. You have money enough to care for your needs, and you are expecting persons who pledged contributions during the drive to come through with their checks. This district has been very well solicited for money for many undertakings, and it was a relief for townsfolk and rural residents alike to learn that they will not be expected to give again for the Community Chest's needs. Red Cross and Public Health association will be conducting their campaigns. If Community Chest had not existed and had not had money available to take care of many needs, local persons would have been solicited half a dozen times this year. Congratulations, also, to your officers. They did a good job, and deserve reelection.

CIRCUITEER.

TO PURINA PLANT

MILLERS: Your confidence in Circleville's future is proved again by the expansion program you are inaugurating in your soybean processing equipment. When this job is finished the output of soybean products will be much greater. You fellows and the Eshelman Company have done a great job in developing the soybean industry in Pickaway county until it is now one of the best cash crops in the district. This year's crop was a bumper one, and prices were good enough that many local persons put big checks into their pockets.

CIRCUITEER.

TO HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

OFFICIALS: That you have looked over the Route 22 and 104 intersection in preparation for an improvement program is good news to Pickaway countians. This corner is one of the most dangerous in the county, and anything you can do to improve it should be done. The intersection can be widened, and should be. The state should take over enough land at the corner to prevent crops from obstructing the view of motorists approaching the intersection from all directions. The flasher your department installed several years ago has done a splendid job of cutting down the toll of deaths happening there. Motorists now approach the corner realizing that they must be cautious. The flasher tells them that.

CIRCUITEER.

TO PARADE PLANNERS

CIVILIANS: The Halloween parade you planned and conducted last week goes into the record book as one of the finest this city has had in many years. It rivals the best of the Pumpkin Show parades when that great institution was operating in all its glory. The parade last week had everything; music, several hundred participants, and several thousand spectators. The event could not have been such a success if it had not received full support from the merchants. Their contributions this year were very generous. They deserve commendation.

Contagious Diseases Serious

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

swering it on my own responsibility. Because it is one of the great facts of life.

Immunity to most contagious diseases is dissolved in a fluid mixture. It is in the mother's blood and while she is carrying her baby, it seeps into the baby's blood. Therefore, a baby up to about a year old is just as much protected as an adult. But the immunity wears out. And then comes the period of measles, mumps, whooping cough and scarlet fever. After the immunity acquired from the mother is gone, it takes very little exposure to cause contagion.

Measles Most Contagious Disease

Measles is the most contagious disease on earth. Apparently just a wind blowing from an infected person to a non-infected person is enough. Scarlet fever is the least contagious of all the childhood diseases. If you want to prove this, take a class of children about ten and ask every one who has had measles to raise the hand. Practically every one will go up. Then ask for scarlet fever cases. Only about five out of twenty will go up.

I am not in favor of protecting children from measles. At about the age of four, if he hasn't had it yet, I would take a youngster for an afternoon to play with a full-blown case. But I would go out of my way to protect him. We saw too many serious cases and deaths in the Army. A lot of the boys had been raised on farms, had never associated closely with others, and they came down with the droves with measles. And they had all the complications that kids at home seldom have—ear infection, pneumonia and everything you can think of. Our death rate was higher than any other disease, counting the pneumonia secondary to measles, as measles.

Compared to measles, scarlet fever is hardly contagious at all.

SYNOPSIS
Roommates and cousins, BETH KINNAN, serious-minded and trusting, and ANDREA BARNES, rather self-centered and selfish, find that the tensions accompanying America's impending entrance into the war is beginning to affect their lives. For three years Beth has been going with JIM RONALD, who still has not been too successful in getting ahead in the world, while Andrea has been attracted by DENNIS ARCHER, 15 years her senior, but wealthy and interesting—and also married.

CHAPTER SEVEN
AS SHE shoved the banknote under the grille of the ticket window, Andrea said, "One for Camp Abington and return, please."

The ticket seller gave her a quick appraising look and he said, "Certainly, madam."

Andrea could feel his eyes following her away from the window in the same seemingly unconscious way that she was aware of other eyes upon her in the railroad station, and she thought, with no small satisfaction, "No one would know this is the very first trip I've ever taken away from Pennington."

Limited as her experience was, she was prepared to give the appearance of a girl to whom luxury liners, trans-continental trains and expensive hotels were of life-long familiarity, for she had lived these experiences in dreams—with one great difference: She would not have been alone: Dennis would have been with her.

Some of the calm of her smooth brow under her new wide-brimmed green hat was momentarily ruffled as she thought of Dennis, and she caught her lip between her teeth as her eyes fell on the row of telephone booths directly to her left.

Resolutely she turned her back to them and marched across the station waiting room. Her heels made sharp little taps on the stone, reflections of the staccato trend of her thoughts, which were a blend of injury, anger and frustration, all singly and collectively directed at Dennis.

It wasn't as if she'd actually told the truth to him. She'd just been sort of trying him out that night in February when she said, "Darling, Jim Ronald has asked me to marry him."

"Are you going to?" Dennis had asked, with no expression to show her how that news must have affected him.

"I . . . I don't know," she'd answered, truthfully perhaps, but she didn't tell him that JIM THOUGHT she was engaged to him.

"That was in February, and now it's March, and I haven't heard from him since that night!" She said it out loud, and the man at the information desk said, "I beg your pardon, miss, were you speaking to me?"

Andrea came to with a start

"Yes," she said hastily. "Is the 5:15 on time?"

"She's ten minutes late, miss."

Andrea sighed. She'd been waiting around the station for 20 minutes and it was only five now. She had another half hour.

Dennis seldom left his office before six.

She got a coin out of her purse and went into a telephone booth and called the Archer mills.

Mr. Archer, the operator told her, was in Duluth and was not expected back until April 3.

Andrea thanked her, went out and bought a newspaper and sat down to wait for her train. She opened the paper, but she couldn't concentrate on the print. There was nothing as exciting in black and white as the conflicting things that had her all stirred up inside.

Dennis and Jim. Jim and Dennis. Saying their two names evoked the forces that had been pulling her this way and that ever since Christmas, and she'd had to keep it all bottled up, because she couldn't talk to Beth about it. Beth was more silent than usual. It took all the moral strength Andrea had to pretend that she saw no difference in Beth.

Now she wouldn't think of Dennis. She'd just think of Jim. Would it be the same when she saw him again? It was almost three months since he'd swept her into his arms and taught her what it was to feel her pulses hammer. He'd been south on war games and had returned to Abington only this week, sending her a pre-emptory telegram to come down for the weekend.

She hadn't been able to hide her wild anticipation from Beth. To be getting new clothes and going somewhere on a train!

When her train drew into the little station at Abington, she looked at herself in the long mirror at the end of the coach. Being suit, brown gloves, her wide-brimmed green hat, felt settled back on her dark head. Would Jim . . . ?

Then she saw him waiting for her and she forgot Dennis when Jim's murmuring lips were close to her ear.

He'd hired a car to take her to the house of some new friends where she was to spend the weekend, and when they got in, their hands clasped tightly, but they had little to say to each other, which was not strange.

Andrea was glad for the presence of strangers at the Thompsons' house. Betinna Thompson, Andrea's hostess, was having six or seven others in for cocktails and a buffet supper—because she was sure the feeling of strangeness with Jim would wear off after a little while. But it didn't—not that night.

On Saturday morning, Betinna brought her guest's breakfast in on a tray and the two girls talked, and then Andrea began to make up a little tale about how she and Jim had got engaged. "We've been in love for three years," she said, expanding pleasantly under the romantic interest of her hostess. And so, self-convinced, when Jim came for her that afternoon, she had become a different person, rather dewy-eyed and completely at ease with Jim.

The effect lasted, and when they left the dance at the Officers' club on Saturday and went to walk along the wall of the bay, she felt that they had much to say to each other.

"After your period of service is up," she said, "we'll have to make plans for that. Have you thought what you'd do? Where would you live?"

Jim said he thought there'd be plenty of time to think about that later. Meanwhile they could be married at once.

"And live here?" Andrea asked. "In one of these wretched places they call houses? No, darling, we'll have better than this. Maybe you'll be transferred to some camp near a larger city, where we could take an apartment."

Jim ruffled her hair with his big hand and said he'd live in a puppet tent with her and be happy.

Andrea kissed him lightly, foregone going to say, recalled it, and said, "I've got a lot of faith in you, Jim. I think you've got a good mind. I think you've got a future."

Jim pondered this novel idea for a moment. Then he sighed. "Maybe," he said. "I used to think so, but I got stuck on that job in Pennington and I never got . . . could not seem to get . . ."

"What you need is someone to give you a poke, to be your inspiration. Do you think I could be?"

Jim caught her to him almost roughly. "You could be anything you wanted, darling. I don't make very well with the words, but you and I are two people who were meant to be together. If we could not speak the same language, we'd know that. If we were good or bad, rich or poor, anything, I wouldn't change it. I don't know how to explain that, but that's the way I feel."

"I feel it, too," she said wonderingly. "And I don't want to explain it. Also, I don't ever want to be owned, Jim, but if anyone were ever going to own me, guess it would have to be you."

"And you don't want that?"

"When you touch me, yes. When I'm away from you, no."

"You're not ever going to get away from me. I won't have to try to keep you. You're caught now. You're going to marry me."

"Have you known that for very long?"

"Since one night in November. I had come to ask Beth to marry me, and my eyes met yours across the room. It was like being hit with a comet. Do you know when it was?"

"Yes," she said, speaking to herself. "I knew everything. . . . Let's go back and dance. It's chilly here."

Marshall Goes to Britain
Early Next Year, Report

Fighting to Date Seen as
Just Brilliant Skirmishes

Special to Central Press

● WASHINGTON—By comparison with what is to come, the military operations of United States forces have only been brilliant skirmishes so far. The real mass fighting is to start in 1944.

Military timetables call for beginning the great Anglo-American invasion of Western Europe next spring or early summer.

Semi-official confirmation of these plans has already appeared in the Army and Navy Register, a usually reliable service publication.

The Register says Gen. George C. Marshall, who, it appears, will command the invasion personally, will not go to Great Britain until some time after the first of the year.

"This," the publication says in its current issue, "is in accordance with the disclosures that the projected movement of forces from the British Isles to the lowlands and France will not be undertaken until some time in the spring or early summer."

Meanwhile, Allied commanders will step up the bombardment of Nazi industries, and military and naval installations, during the long winter nights. Enemy defenses will be weakened as much as possible before troops start across.

The Germans, naturally will have to guess the exact time and place of the invasion across the English channel.

But from six to seven months hence, the German defenders will be awakened by a pre-dawn visit of vast masses of American, British, Canadian, French and other troops.

The air war will have left black, smoking ruins along the stretches of continental coastland. The invasion will be protected by the greatest air umbrella the world has ever seen. The attack will be made under the most stupendous naval bombardment in history.

The Allied forces will suffer losses such as Americans have not been accustomed to since Gettysburg—and the home front must be prepared for this. But Allied commanders mean to save all the lives they can by hitting the Germans with the most terrible array of mechanized killers that modern science can devise.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden are believed to have told Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov that spring or early summer will see the fulfillment of the "second front" commitment.

But the United States and British governments insist that the job is wholly military in nature, and that neither Russian desires nor American politics shall influence it.

● RANDOLPH PAUL, general counsel for the treasury department, is talking freely of resigning after congress passes the tax bill now being prepared by the house ways and means committee.

Paul has borne the burden of presenting the administration's tax program to congress, and he is frankly tired of having these revenue proposals turned down.

His associates report that Paul's health is not too good and he doesn't feel that he can weather another stormy session before the highly-critical ways and means committee when it considers the omnibus tax bill for 1944.

● THERE IS MORE THAN ONE REASON for gasoline rationing on the home front. A primary reason, of course, is the use of gasoline in mechanized equipment on the fighting fronts.

But there are a great many other military uses for gasoline. Gasoline is used in field hospitals to heat sterilizers for surgical instruments, to light the lamps in tent operating rooms, and to power refrigerator units in which blood plasma is stored.

It furnishes fuel for transport planes flying the wounded from field to base hospitals and in many instances to hospitals in this country. Soldiers in the Arctic regions depend on gasoline for cooking and keeping warm and even mechanical dough-kneaders in field kitchens are run with gasoline.

This all-purpose fuel is put to hundreds of other vital uses and the list is expected to grow as the war goes on.

Scarlet fever is the least contagious of all the childhood diseases. If you want to prove this, take a class of children about ten and ask every one who has had measles to raise the hand. Practically every one will go up. Then ask for scarlet fever cases. Only about five out of twenty will go up.

I am not in favor of protecting children from measles. At about the age of four, if he hasn't had it yet, I would take a youngster for an afternoon to play with a full-blown case. But I would go out of my way to protect him. We saw too many serious cases and deaths in the Army. A lot of the boys had been raised on farms, had never associated closely with others, and they came down by the droves with measles. And they had all the complications that kids at home seldom have—ear infection, pneumonia and everything you can think of. Our death rate was higher than from any other disease, counting the pneumonia secondary to measles, as measles. Compared to measles, scarlet fever is hardly contagious at all.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

been accustomed to since Gettysburg—and the home front must be prepared for this. But Allied commanders mean to save all the lives they can by hitting the Germans with the most terrible array of mechanized killers that modern science can devise.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden are believed to have told Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov that spring or early summer will see the fulfillment of the "second front" commitment.

But the United States and British governments insist that the job is wholly military in nature, and that neither Russian desires nor American politics shall influence it.

● RANDOLPH PAUL, general counsel for the treasury department, is talking freely of resigning after congress passes the tax bill now being prepared by the house ways and means committee.

Paul has borne the burden of presenting the administration's tax program to congress, and he is frankly tired of having these revenue proposals turned down.

His associates report that Paul's health is not too good and he doesn't feel that he can weather another stormy session before the highly-critical ways and means committee when it considers the omnibus tax bill for 1944.

● THERE IS MORE THAN ONE REASON for gasoline rationing on the home front. A primary reason, of course, is the use of gasoline in mechanized equipment on the fighting fronts.

But there are a great many other military uses for gasoline. Gasoline is used in field hospitals to heat sterilizers for surgical instruments, to light the lamps in tent operating rooms, and to power refrigerator units in which blood plasma is stored.

It furnishes fuel for transport planes flying the wounded from field to base hospitals and in many instances to hospitals in this country.

Soldiers in the Arctic regions depend on gasoline for cooking and keeping warm and even mechanical dough-kneaders in field kitchens are run with gasoline.

This all-purpose fuel is put to hundreds of other vital uses and the list is expected to grow as the war goes on.

And besides it has been growing less malignant in the past 20 years. Fifty years ago scarlet fever charts were a horror to look at, but now it is little more than a bad case of hives. There are exceptions, of course, and I would always treat it with respect, but by and large, that statement holds.

Serious Diseases

Never treat mumps and whooping cough with contempt. They are serious diseases and should be regarded. Mumps may make a boy sterile for life and whooping cough may go into the worst form of pneumonia.

One thing about all these diseases—if you have them in childhood, you are all over them. They never return. There is only one exception—whopping cough. If little Elmer has a bad cough and grandpa has a bad cough too, the chances are grandpa has whooping cough.

We have no artificial immunity to use in the form of injections for measles and mumps. And our immunity serum to scarlet fever and whooping cough is not sufficiently good that I would care to recommend it very strongly.

So I stick to my idea of getting them all naturally when you are young and your juices are strong. But mothers should not treat them lightly. They are all serious and require the most careful nursing. Nothing is "just" a case of measles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. C.:—Have been run down—very nervous, loud roaring in head, and laryngitis. Went to a laryngitis specialist who couldn't find anything. Have an ovarian tumor the doctor thinks should come out. Will this do any good, and is it dangerous?

Answer: You are probably going through change of life. The operation is indicated if you have the facts correct. All operations are dangerous.

J. J. A.:—A person suffering with anemia and low blood pressure. Would liver extracts and concentrates bring up the pressure?

Answer: If the anemia is pernicious anemia liver will bring up the blood pressure. If it is some other form liver will bring it up. I don't know what "concentrates" are.

Roommates and cousins.

BETH KINNAN, serious-minded and trusting, and ANDREA BARNES, rather self-centered and selfish, find that the tense, accompanying America's impending entrance into the war is beginning to affect their lives.

For three years Beth has been going with JIM RONALD, who still has not been too successful in getting ahead in the war while Andrea has been attracted by DENNIS ARCHER, 15 years her senior, but wealthy and interesting—and also married.

YESTERDAY: Andrea tells Beth that she and Jim are engaged, leaving Beth with the desperate feeling that she must get away from Andrea because it was she who loved Jim first.

CHAPTER SEVEN

AS SHE shoved the banknote under the grille of the ticket window, Andrea said, "On for Camp Abington and return, please."

The ticket seller gave her a quick appraising look as he said, "Certainly, madam."

Andrea could feel his eyes following her away from the window in the same seemingly unconscious way that she was aware of other eyes upon her in the railroad station, and she thought, with no small satisfaction, "No one would know this is the very first trip I've ever taken away from Pennington."

Limited as her experience was, she was prepared to give the appearance of a girl to whom luxury liners, trans-continental trains and expensive hotels were of life-long familiarity, for she had lived these experiences in dreams—with one great difference: She would not have been alone; Dennis would have been with her.

Some of the calm of her smooth brow under her new wide-brimmed green hat was momentarily ruffled as she thought of Dennis, and she caught her lip between her teeth as her eyes fell on the row of telephone booths directly to her left.

Resolutely she turned her back to them and marched across the station waiting room. Her heels made sharp little taps on the stone, reflections of the staccato trend of her thoughts, which were a blend of injury, anger and frustration, all singly and collectively directed at Dennis.

It wasn't as if she'd actually told the truth to him. She'd just been sort of trying him out that night in February when she said, "Darling, Jim Ronald has asked me to marry him."

"Are you going to?" Dennis had asked, with no expression to show her how that news must have affected him.

"I . . . I don't know," she'd answered, truthfully perhaps, but she didn't tell him that JIM THOUGHT she was engaged to him.

"That was in February, and now it's March, and I haven't heard from him since that night!" She said it out loud, and the man at the information desk said, "Beg your pardon, miss. Were you speaking to me?"

Andrea came to with a start

If it is Your Birthday
Those whose birthday it is may have a splendid opportunity to attain some important goal in a new direction, or to accelerate a lagging matter, by quick attack and initiative, although it may be necessary to surmount obstacles or peculiar circumstances, either by compromise with superiors or by very determined and direct action, based on wisdom and experience or special skill. High marks of achievement may be reached by needed restraints, even with bold initiative and tact.

A child born on this day should have energy, enterprise, ambition, good judgment and initiative, with which to combat certain antagonisms in its career.

Marshall Goes to Britain
Early Next Year, Report

Fighting to Date Seen as
Just Brilliant Skirmishes

Special to Central Press

● WASHINGTON—By comparison with what is to come, the military operations of United States forces have only been brilliant skirmishes so far. The real mass fighting is to start in 1944.

Military timetables call for beginning the great Anglo-American invasion of Western Europe next spring or early summer.

Semi-official confirmation of these plans has already appeared in the Army and Navy Register, a usually reliable service publication. The Register says Gen. George C. Marshall, who, it appears, will command the invasion personally, will not go to Great Britain until some time after the first of the year.

"This," the publication says in its current issue, "is in accordance with the disclosures that the projected movement of forces from the British Isles to the lowlands and France will not be undertaken until some time in the spring or early summer."

Meanwhile, Allied commanders will step up the bombardment of Nazi industries, and military and naval installations, during the long winter nights. Enemy defenses will be weakened as much as possible before troops start across.

The Germans, naturally will have to guess the exact time and place of the invasion across the English channel.

But from six to seven months hence, the German defenders will be awakened by a pre-dawn visit of vast masses of American, British, Canadian, French and other troops.

The air war will have left black, smoking ruins along the stretches of continental coastland. The invasion will be protected by the greatest air umbrella the world has ever seen. The attack will be made under the most stupendous naval bombardment in history.

The Allied forces will suffer losses such as Americans have not

Mrs. Adkins Reelected President of W. S. C. S. Marie Hamilton Gives Review of Study Book

Mrs. G. H. Adkins was elected to serve for another year as president of the Woman's Society for Christian Service when the organization convened Thursday for the annual business meeting in the parlor of the Methodist church. Other officers for 1944 include Mrs. L. S. Uim, vice president; Mrs. L. S. Lyle, recording secretary; Mrs. J. E. Reger, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fremont L. Mangham, treasurer; Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, secretary of Missionary Education; Mrs. Harold Pontius, secretary of Social Relations and Church Activities; Mrs. C. R. Barnhart, secretary of Spiritual Life; Mrs. George Welker, secretary of Literature; Mrs. W. L. Sprouse and Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, secretaries of Young People's Work; Mrs. Richard Plum, secretary of Children's Work; Mrs. H. W. Plum, secretary of Student Work; and Miss Mattie Gearhart, secretary of Supplies. Mrs. Charles Fullen, assisting secretary.

Mrs. Adkins presided at the meeting, reading "A Prayer for Courage" as the opening number of the program. Mrs. Sprouse presented a quilt made by the Girls Interest group. It is to be sent to the Ethel Harpist Home at Cedar-town, Ga.

Mrs. Adkins in her report of the district meeting held Wednesday at Chillicothe, told of picture slides of the chapel that the district had built in an Indian village. The Rev. E. A. Semonds, missionary to the village, showed the slides.

The society voted to send a gift of $5 to a Japanese Re-location center for the Children's Christmas fund.

Mrs. Defenbaugh, who arranged the program, presented Miss Marie Hamilton to give a splendid review of a chapter of the year's study book, "On This Foundation." Her subject was "Social Changes and Needs in Latin America."

Mrs. Fred Duncan told of the Lima-Peru high school. This school is owned by the W. S. C. S. Letters from Ethel Harpist and from Becky Canter, the girl supported by the local society, were read by Mrs. Defenbaugh. A picture of the school student was shown also by Mrs. Defenbaugh.

Deercreek Garden Club

Thirty-five members attended the meeting of the Deercreek Garden club Thursday at the home of Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, Williamsport. Mrs. Edwin Frazier and Mrs. Marvin Cook joined the group for the evening.

Mrs. J. B. Johnson as speaker of the session, gave a lively and interesting talk on the theme, "California, Here I Come," discussing her recent extended stay in Whittier, Cal., while visiting her son, Bill, who was stationed at Pomona. She told of many unusual things she enjoyed while there, especially interesting being the discussion of her attendance at the Easter sunrise service at the Hollywood bowl. She displayed attractive arrangements of pine cones, and many unique articles which she had secured while on a visit to Chinatown. Her son, who was with the John Deere Battalion, is now overseas.

Mrs. John Dunlap Jr. called the meeting to order and presided during the business hour. Members responded to roll call by telling of their donations of canned goods for the school cafeteria. Miss Carolyn Bochar, secretary, and Mrs. C. W. Hays, treasurer, reported. Mrs. Walter Wright, chairman of the honor roll committee, read her report on that project.

Five minute talks were presented by Mrs. John Smith, who discussed, "What to do in your Vegetable Garden This Month," and by Mrs. C. E. Hill, whose topic was, "What to do in your Flower Garden This Month."

Mrs. T. B. Gephart in a short talk on "Birds" discussed especially "The Red-headed Woodpecker."

L. Pickel was heard in a reading, "Break the News to Mother."

G. P. Hunsicker, a former member, was reinstated in the club.

Mrs. Hunsicker, the hostess, was assisted in serving a delightful salad course by Mrs. George Bochar, Mrs. Katie West, Mrs. Gephart, Mrs. Carl Hurst, Mrs. J. W. Myles, Mrs. Charles Holland and Mrs. William Dunlap.

Mrs. John H. Dunlap Jr. invited the club to meet at her home on the Williamsport pike for the December session. Gifts will be exchanged at this meeting which is to be the annual Christmas party. Officers of the club will be hostesses.

Surprise Party

A delightful surprise party honored Miss Eileen Brown on her birthday anniversary, the affair being held Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, West Ohio street. Guests included the Misses Lee Etta Rife, Mary Rife, Lillie Mae French, Anna, Eleanor, Dorothy Arthur Dick and Robert Hildenbrand. The next meeting will be November 7 at the Methodist church.

Otterbein Guild

Otterbein guild will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Sunday school room of the United Brethren church. Miss Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Leona Pile will be hostesses.

Circle 1

Circle 1 of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Harold Pontius, North Pickaway street.

Bridge Club

Mrs. B. T. Hedges and Mrs. George Littleton were guests Thursday when Mrs. J. Wray Henry entertained her three-table bridge club at her home on North Court street.

After several rounds of the game, Mrs. J. Wallace Crist and Mrs. Tom Burke carried home prizes for scores.

Mrs. Crist will be hostess at the December session.

State Board Meeting

Mrs. Orion King, West High street, president of the Ohio Daughters of 1812, attended a meeting of the state board Wednesday at the Seneca hotel, Columbus. It was decided by the group to have the annual State Conference at the Deshler Wallace hotel April 3 and 4, 1944.

Eighteen attended the session, including Mrs. William Haley of Toledo, vice president national, and presidents of the various chapters in Ohio.

U. B. Missionary Society

Women's Missionary society of the United Brethren church will have its postponed meeting at the community house tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Carroll Morgan will be program leader.

Union Guild

Union Guild will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Roy Rittinger, Wayne township, with Mrs. Harry Cupp as assisting hostess.

Emmett's Chapel W. S. C. S.

Emmett's Chapel W. S. C. S. will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Austin Wilson, Pickaway township.

D. U. V. Sewing Club

Sewing club of the Daughters of United Veterans will meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Red Cross rooms, South Court street.

Five Points Auxiliary

Auxiliary of the Five Points Methodist church held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. Mollie McGath. Mrs. Vida Hooser had charge of the business hour and the Rev. Oscar Root assisted with the devotionals.

Twenty-two members were present and seven visitors joined the group for the session.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. McGath, assisted by Mrs. Ho Long and Mrs. Ethel Furniss.

Magie Sewing Club

Members of the Magie Sewing club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Gladden Troutman, East Union street. A delightful evening of sewing and informal visiting was enjoyed. Mrs. Stanley Melvin and Mrs. Lewis Seimer were guests for the evening.

Mrs. Selmer, Mrs. Noble Barr, Mrs. Melvin and Mrs. Roger Lozier won prizes in the clever contest.

Mrs. Troutman served delicious refreshments at the close of the evening. Mrs. Gail Wolfe, Pleasant street, will entertain the club on Thursday, November 18, at 8 p. m.

The Sacredness of Human Life

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Nov. 7 is Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26, 38-48; the Golden Text, being 1 John 3:15, "Whoever hateth his brother is a murderer.")

"THOU SHALT NOT KILL." This commandment, given over 3,000 years ago, was made to protect human life. If every man's hand had been raised against every other to kill, the earth would soon have been depopulated. The human being is a personality. It is a crime to destroy a being made in his Maker's image, the commandment seems to say.

Turning to Matthew 5:21, we read:

"Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment."

"But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment; and whosoever shall say to his brother, 'Raca,' shall be in danger of the council; but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire."

This saying of our Lord's soars high above the flat statement, "Thou shalt not kill." It touches a new development in ethical thought and conduct. Not only shall we not kill our brother's body, but we shall not allow ourselves to grow angry with him, to hurt his feelings, to call him names. One who does so is almost as bad as a murderer, because in his extreme anger he no doubt wishes this person at whom he is so angry was indeed dead. The word "Raca" is thought to be a term of angry contempt.

Conveys Settled Hatred

The word "fool" seems to convey a fixed and settled hatred. This writer remembers, when a child, hearing two brothers quarreling, the quarrel reaching its climax when one called the other a fool. Very quietly Mother said, "The Bible says, he who calls his brother a fool is in danger of hell fire." That word of anger was seldom or never heard in our family again as long as I was at home.

If you take a gift to the altar, said Jesus, and while there remember that your brother hath sinned against you, leave your gift immediately and go to your brother and make things right with him. Only then will your gift be acceptable to God.

"Agree with thine adversary quickly, while thou art in the way with him; before he takes his case into court and you become enemies because of a slight disagreement or you have a judgment delivered against you."

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth:

"But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil; but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.

"And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.

"And whosoever compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away."

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy.

Love Your Enemies

"But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you; do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you."

"That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust."

We should learn these passages by heart, and they will recur to us when we need them most and bless our lives if we strive hard to live by them. All through life we shall meet people who seem to us evil, or at least full of faults—even as we are. They may insult us in the way the slap on the cheek was once considered a deadly insult to be wiped out in blood in a duel. If we turn the other cheek, as it were, maybe we can shame them and make them realize how unwisely they are and how much at fault.

Without anger we should give up our cloak when our coat is taken; go another mile when we are forced to go one. If people don't like us we should try to see the good in them, and do good to them, striving to turn the hate to love. Thus will we feel ourselves children of the Father.

This does not prevent our anger from flaring up at wanton cruelty, persecutions and aggression. We will fight for others—for our homes and loved ones, and our native land if they are assailed. But not with vengeance; and after the battle we will do all in our power to help make and preserve a lasting and just peace.

Mrs. Adkins Reelected President of W. S. C. S.

Marie Hamilton Gives Review of Study Book

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Mrs. G. H. Adkins was elected to serve for another year as president of the Woman's Society for Christian Service when the organization convened Thursday for the annual business meeting in the parlor of the Methodist church. Other officers for 1944 include Mrs. L. T. Uim, vice president; Mrs. L. S. Lytle, recording secretary; Mrs. J. E. Reger, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fremont L. Mangum, treasurer; Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, secretary of Missionary Education; Mrs. Harold Pontius, secretary of Social Relations and Church Activities; Mrs. C. R. Barnhart, secretary of Spiritual Life; Mrs. George Welker, secretary of Literature; Mrs. W. L. Sprouse and Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, secretaries of Young People's Work; Mrs. Richard Plum, secretary of Children's Work; Mrs. H. W. Plum, secretary of Student Work, and Miss Mattie Gearhart, secretary of Supplies. Mrs. Charles Fullen, assisting secretary.

Mrs. Adkins presided at the meeting, reading "A Prayer for Courage" as the opening number of the program. Mrs. Sprouse presented a quilt made by the Girls Interest group. It is to be sent to the Ethel Harpist Home at Cedar-town, Ga.

Mrs. Adkins in her report of the district meeting held Wednesday at Chillicothe, told of picture slides of the chapel that the district had built in an Indian village. The Rev. E. A. Seamon, missionary to the village, showed the slides.

The society voted to send a gift of $5 to a Japanese Re-education center for the Children's Christmas fund.

Mrs. Defenbaugh, who arranged the program, presented Miss Marie Hamilton who gave a splendid review of a chapter of the year's study book, "On This Foundation." Her subject was "Social Changes and Needs in Latin America."

Mrs. Fred Duncan told of the Lima-Peru high school. This school is owned by the W. S. C. S. Letters from Ethel Harpist and from Becky Canter, the girl supported by the local society, were read by Mrs. Defenbaugh. A picture of the school student was shown also by Mrs. Defenbaugh.

Deercreek Garden Club

Thirty-five members attended the meeting of the Deercreek Garden club Thursday at the home of Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, Williamsport. Mrs. Edwin Frazier and Mrs. Marvin Cook joined the group for the evening.

Mrs. J. B. Johnson as speaker of the session, gave a lively and interesting talk on the theme, "California, Here I Come", discussing her recent extended stay in Whittier, Cal., while visiting her son, Bill, who was stationed at Pomona. She told of many unusual things she enjoyed while there, especially interesting being the discussion of her attendance at the Easter sunrise service at the Hollywood bowl. She displayed attractive arrangements of pine cones, and many unique articles which she had secured while on a visit to Chinatown. Her son, who was with the John Deere Battalion at the Ordnance Base at Pomona, is now overseas.

Mrs. John Dunlap Jr. called the meeting to order and presided during the business hour. Members responded to roll call by telling of their donations of canned goods for the school cafeteria. Miss Carolyn Bochar, secretary, and Mrs. C. W. Hays, treasurer, reported. Mrs. Walter Wright, chairman of the honor roll committee, read her report on that project.

Five minute talks were presented by Mrs. John Smith, who discussed, "What to do in your Vegetable Garden This Month", and by Mrs. C. E. Hill, whose topic was, "What to do in your Flower Garden This Month."

Mrs. T. B. Gephart in a short talk on "Birds" discussed especially "The Red-headed Woodpecker." I. Pickel was heard in a reading, "Break the News to Mother."

G. P. Hunsicker, a former member, was reinstated in the club.

Mrs. Hunsicker, the hostess, was assisted in serving a delightful salad course by Mrs. George Bochar, Mrs. Katie West, Mrs. Gephart, Mrs. Carl Hurst, Mrs. J. W. Myes, Mrs. Charles Holland and Mrs. William Dunlap.

Mrs. John H. Dunlap Jr. invited the club to meet at her home on the Williamsport pike for the December session. Gifts will be exchanged at this meeting which is to be the annual Christmas party. Officers of the club will be hostesses.

The Sacredness of Human Life

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL (The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Nov. 7 is Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-26, 33-45, the Golden Text, being 1 John 3:15, "Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer.")

"THOU SHALT not kill." This commandment, given over 3,000 years ago, was made to protect human life. If every man's hand had been raised against every other to kill, the earth would soon have been depopulated. The human being is a personality. It is a crime to destroy a being made in his Maker's image, the commandment seems to say.

Turning to Matthew 5:21, we read: "Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment."

"But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment; and whosoever shall say to his brother, 'Raca,' shall be in danger of the council; but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire."

This saying of our Lord's soars high above the flat statement, "Thou shalt not kill." It touches a new development in ethical thought and conduct. Not only shall we not kill our brother's body, and his life, but we shall not allow ourselves to grow angry with him, to hurt his feelings, to call him names. One who does so is almost as bad as a murderer, because in his extreme anger he no doubt wishes this person at whom he is so angry was dead. The word "Raca" is thought to be a term of angry contempt.

Conveys Settled Hatred

The word "fool" seems to convey a fixed and settled hatred. This writer remembers, when a child, hearing two brothers quarreling, the quarrel reaching its climax when one called the other a fool. Very quietly Mother said, "The Bible says, he who calls his brother a fool is in danger of hell fire." That word of anger was seldom or never heard in our family again as long as I was at home.

If you take a gift to the altar, said Jesus, and while there remember that your brother hath aught against you, leave your gift immediately and go to your brother and make things right with him. Only then will your gift be acceptable to God.

"Agree with thine adversary quickly, while thou art in the way with him," before he takes his case into court and you become enemies because of a slight disagreement or you have a judgment delivered against you.

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth:

"But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil; but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.

"And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.

"And whosoever compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy,

Love Your Enemies

"But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you."

"That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust."

We should learn these passages by heart, and they will recur to us when we need them most and bless our lives if we strive hard to live by them. All through life we shall meet people who seem to us evil, or at least full of faults—even as we are. They may insult us in the way the slap on the cheek was once considered a deadly insult to be wiped out in blood in a duel. If we turn the other cheek, as it were, maybe we can shame them and make them realize how unmanly they are and how much at fault.

Without anger we should give

Saltcreek School News

The Saltcreek P-T. A. in its first meeting inaugurated a membership drive to be contested by various rooms. The P-T. A. served lunch to voters on November 2.

The Saltcreek Athletic association

tion was organized with the following officers elected: Don Strous, president; Don Walliser, vice president, and Franklin Rodocker, secretary-treasurer. Louise Jones and Roanne Kettelman were chosen leaders of competing basketball ticket selling teams.

Our scrap drive is well under way. Large amounts are weighed on each Monday and Friday. The boys physical education class completed its fairly successful softball season and has taken up football.

The seventh and eighth grades are participating in the P-T. A. membership drive and the scrap drive. They are studying the Far East in geography and the 13 colonies in history. They decorated their room for Halloween.

The fifth and sixth grades held their annual Halloween parties in the schoolroom. Prizes were given for unique costumes.

The sixth grade has been studying the ancient Egyptians and collecting notebook material. The fifth grade is studying pioneers.

The third and fourth grades also held their annual Halloween party. Prizes were awarded for the funniest, prettiest and ugliest costumes. They are studying the Vikings at present, and are collecting sales tax stamps.

The seventh and eighth grades sang for the P-T. A. program. A symphonette class has been organized from grades 3, 4, 5 and 6 for the purpose of determining whether or not the student has the ability to take up an advanced instrument.

The orchestra has been diminished considerably by graduation of a trumpeter, a saxophonist, a clarinetist and a violinist.

Franklin Rodocker, Betty Jo Minshall and Betty Hinton have been appointed news editor, assistant editor, and secretary, respectively.

MICHIGAN FEARS PASS ATTACK OF HOOSIERS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 5—Fearing Hoosier passes, the Michigan Wolverines polished up their aerial defense today for tomorrow's game with Indiana. The Wolverines will face the Hoosiers at Ann Arbor with a backfield consisting of Jack Wink at quarterback, Elroy Hirsch and Wally Dreyer at the halves and Bob Wiese at fullback.

HECKER MAY GET CALL AT ERNIE PARKS' POST

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5—Ohio State today benched Speedy Ernie Parks for a small southpaw, Bob Hecker, for tomorrow's game with Pittsburgh.

The Buckeyes were scheduled to take a light workout on the Pitt field this afternoon.

SAVOLD, TAMI MEET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—Lee Savold, Paterson, N. J., heavyweight, seeks to avenge an earlier defeat tonight when he meets New York's Tami Mauriello in a ten-round main event at Madison Square garden. Savold, the underdog, also wishes to erase from the minds of Garden fans all memories of the night of November 27, 1942, since it was then that Lee engaged in one of the dreariest contests of all time, against Detroit's Jimmy Bivins.

RED AND BLACK CREW HOPEFUL

Tiger Varsity To Play Grove City Tonight On Foreign Field

Confident they will be able to add another victory to their season's record, but aware they are playing a worthy foe, Circleville high Tigers move into Grove City Friday night to meet the Greyhounds of that village.

The Grove City team is on top the Franklin county high school league, with only one defeat in its season's program. The Greyhounds won 27-13 last week from Groveport, handing the first defeat of the season to that team.

The Tigers are wondering about Jim Reibel's sprained ankle, the big fellow playing the whole way through the Groveport game without any apparent injury. He might have been hurt in practice, however. Jim Jahn, tiny speedster, is another threat in the Grove City backfield, although Reibel's line backing and line splintering smashes will be missed if he is unable to put on full speed.

Coach Roy Black has been working all week with his offensive blocking. He hopes the Red and Black running attack will be much improved over the last two weeks when it was about nil.

80,000 TO SEE IRISH AND ARMY GRIDDERS PLAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—They say 80,000 people are going to crowd into Yankee stadium tomorrow to watch unbeaten and untied Notre Dame fight it out with onced, never-beaten Army. It is also said that about 50,000 of that crowd is fairly sure that Army will emerge a beaten team, judging by the prevailing odds on the game.

There is a fairly good chance that those 50,000 people may be wrong. As a matter of fact, fortune and circumstances may combine to make suckers out of the whole 80,000.

In a game such as this, where victory for one team or the other seems to be absolute, it is hardly prudent to look for a tie. But that's how we think the Irish-Cadet clash will turn out—a tie.

Army's tie with Penn last week was deceiving. The Cadets, pointing at the Notre Dame game, stumbled over Penn, something like a hunter tripping over a rabbit with his rifle trained on a choice partridge. Army has power on the line and both power and speed in the backfield, enough to stop Notre Dame, if not beat them. We might as well go all the way and say it will be a 13-13 tie.

BIG TEN'S TOP TEAMS TO MEET GOOD OPPONENTS

CHICAGO, Nov. 5—Although the football spotlight was focused sharply today on Yankee stadium where the Notre Dame and Army elevens take the stage tomorrow, there still remained interest in the Midwest over the outcome of Big Ten conference games.

The two conference leaders, Michigan and Purdue, run into only mild opposition in their engagements with Indiana and Minnesota. The main chance the Hoosiers have to make a creditable showing against Michigan rests on the strong arm of Bob "Hunchy" Hoernschemeyer, brilliant freshman back from Cincinnati, O.

Observers believe, however, that the pass flipping sensation of the conference will run into the busiest swarm of tacklers he has seen this season. The Wolverines' forward wall still is powerful despite the loss of their star tackle, Mervin Pregulman, who was shifted to a new naval training base.

Three brothers joined the Navy and served together, all three being badly wounded in Pacific action. They are still working to get together making jeeps in an Ohio plant.

FOUR STARS, GENERAL

Four stars of the entertainment world, Preston Foster, Allan Jones, Charles Butterworth and Gail Patrick and Brigadier General Pedro Del Valle, U. S. M. C., a star of the military world, comprise the guest list at the "Stage Door Canteen" on Friday at 9:30 p. m., over station WBNS. General Del Valle, as narrator, joins with the movie actor Preston Foster, who enacts the title role, in a dramatization of the unusual story of Sgt. Lou Diamond, an almost legendary Marine hero. The tenor Allan Jones, the comedian Charles Butterworth and the actress Gail Patrick will be heard in other program features. Bert Lytell is officer-of-the-day. Raymond Paige conducts the orchestra.

GUESTS OF AMECHE

When those four luscious King Sisters—Yvonne, Donna, Alice and Louise—guested on "What's New?" airshow last week, Host Don Ameche didn't miss a note. Don doesn't confine his musical favorites to the classical department. He loves novelties, swing, boogie-woogie, jive, ballads and old masters, all in turn. He's invited the King Sisters back again November 6 at 6 p. m. over the Blue network.

OLD IRISH SONG

Sammy Kaye's serviceman guest last week on "Everybody's Inn," Joe Hartney, Navy signal man, first class, added a new touch to his interview by singing an old Irish song, "The Irishman's Shanty." Hartney sang the song to keep up his spirits while fighting off sharks after his boat had been torpedoed. The sailor proved to have a very fine voice and said wistfully he wished he could audition for the vacancy left with Kaye's vocalists.

MATURE BUSY

Radio Theatre was "under siege" last Monday in Hollywood when Chief Boatswains Mate Victor Mature of Uncle Sam's Coast Guard was co-starring with "Pin-Up Girl" Lana Turner in "Slightly Dangerous." Word had leaked out in the film city that the "gorgeous hunk of man" was going to marry Anne Shirley—and with Vic rehearsing at Radio Theatre all day, Hollywood's newspaper reporters and cameramen stormed the theatre for interviews and late pictures of the bedroom-to-be.

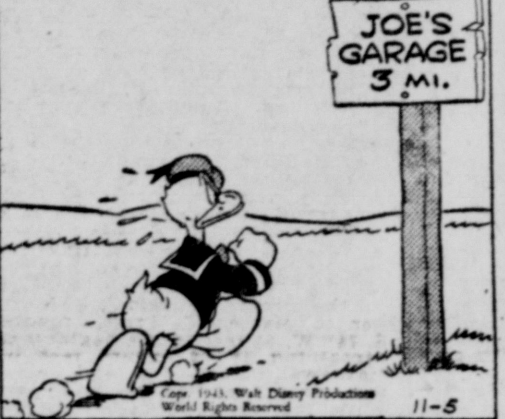

TROTTER TO FRONT

John Scott Trotter, affectionately known around Music Hall as "Two Ton Trotter," takes an awful beating from Bing Crosby and the gang, all because he's a sizeable and well-padded guy. At rehearsal the other day, Trotter was be-moaning the fact that he had been turned down by Uncle Sam when he tried to get into the Army. "I can't understand it," moaned Trotter. "I think I have a very military body!" "What do you mean, 'military body'?" asked Bing. Retorted Trotter, "Everything has gone to the front!"

RADIO NEWS NOTES

Pretty girls, musicians all, will go visiting Chicago soon. They are members of Phil Spitalny's "Hour of Charm" orchestra, heard Sunday nights over NBC. First they'll do a broadcast from the Halloran Hospital for service men on Sunday, November 14. Then they head for the middle west and will play two weeks at the Chicago theatre with the broadcasts of November 21 and 28 emanating from the Windy City.

Favorite musical comedy composers with dialers to Frank Black's Friday night concert series over NBC seem to be Jerome Kern and Rodgers and Hart. At least, their songs have had more requests than those of any other composers in recent weeks.

After a vacation of several weeks, Lionel Barrymore in another fortnight will add picture-making to his CBS "Mayor of the Town" radio duties. Barrymore has starred for some years in MGM's "Dr. Gillespie" series.

Xavier Cugat, maestro who doubles as m. c. of his "Dubonnet Date" show, will demonstrate his master-of-ceremonies talent in person, by presiding over a Latin-America Fiesta to be held November 6, in Beverly Hills, California.

Women are not the only ones interested in "The Morning Market Basket." Isabel Manning Hewson, star of the six-times-weekly Blue chain series, this week got proof—in the form of an enthusiastic letter from a Washington, D. C., taxi driver. The writer not only expressed high praise for her "stories to tell at dinner" but also, if you please, contributed a kitchen short-cut for busy housewives. The cabbie explained that he's still interested in cooking as he "used to be a salad man."

Jackie Kelk, "Homer" of "The Aldrich Family," scored such a success when he flew to Cleveland for a Four Freedoms Bond Rally that he'll probably continue the routine in other midwest cities between broadcasts.

The date the deed of Philadelphia was given to William Penn was October 2, 1685.

Jackie Kelk, "Homer" of "The Aldrich Family," scored such a success when he flew to Cleveland for a Four Freedoms Bond Rally that he'll probably continue the routine in other midwest cities between broadcasts.

The date the deed of Philadelphia was given to William Penn was October 2, 1685.

LOCAL EXODUS OF PIPELINERS ABOUT TO START

Most Of Work In County Completed Far Ahead Of Schedule

WEATHER BIG FACTOR

Foreman Company Moving Office To Lancaster Last Of Week

General exodus from Circleville of crews employed by the C. S. Foreman Co., pipeline contractors, is scheduled to start during the week end, with most of the Pickaway county work on the 20-inch gasoline line completed.

The Foreman Co. will remove its offices from the National Guard Armory, East Franklin street, to Lancaster, the transfer being scheduled during the week end.

Pipeline families who have been living in Circleville have already started to search for residences in Lancaster, although some of the family groups may remain here until suitable quarters can be found in the Fairfield county seat which will be the base for operations for the remainder of the work to be done by the Foreman outfit.

Speedy Progress

The Foreman Co., which also constructed river and stream crossings in Pickaway county in July, has been putting the 20-inch line from the Indiana border eastward. The contractor's job will end at the Fairfield-Muskingum county line. Another contractor will build the line to the east. The gasoline line runs from Beaumont, Texas, to the Atlantic coast.

Work on the 20 inch line through Pickaway county has been progressing at great speed, weather being perfect for the contractor's men. River crossings were already in, so the line was hooked up as the welders moved along. All welding has been completed through Pickaway county, but the job of covering the gasoline carrier has been delayed for quite a distance because the supply of "dope," used to treat the pipe before it is put under ground, has been exhausted. The necessary supplies are being brought to Circleville from Indianapolis by truck.

When the 24-inch crude oil carrier was put through here the pipe was not treated in Pickaway county, soil experts declaring that acids in Pickaway county soil were such that the line would not be endangered underground. However, regardless of the soil content, the 20-inch line is being treated from one end to the other.

Pumpers At Work

The big pumping station on the 24-inch line is in full operation at Five Points, but much time will be required before the second pumping station, being built on the 20-inch line, is completed.

With pipelers removing from Circleville, many apartments and rooms now used by them will be left vacant, but from all indications Circleville persons interested may be able to rent their rooms to employees of W. H. Ringwald Co., Chillicothe, which has started work on two additional runways being constructed at the Lockbourne army air base. Representatives of the company have been in Circleville the last several days seeking places where its employees may live.

FSA SEEKING CASH TO CARRY OUT PROGRAM

Funds with which to carry on its widespread program through the remainder of the year are being sought by the Farm Security Administration. A. L. Sorensen, Columbus, said Friday that the state's $700,000 farm loan fund will be exhausted by the end of November.

Pickaway county division of the FSA, headed by Cornell Cope land, will probably feel the shortage at the same time since its funds come from the state pool administered by Sorensen.

Loans made by FSA are designed to promote increased war-time food production. They are available to low income farm families for purchase of livestock, machinery, feed and seed.

The state FSA chief said the 1943-44 appropriations were cut by congress, declaring that Ohio's share was only slightly more than half of the money allotted last year.

The director pointed out that money available for farm tenant purchase loans probably would not run out since rising land prices are preventing purchases under price limitations of the Bankhead-Jones act.

Seabee Billy Ebert Carries On With Blood Gift Started In City

Seaman Second Class Billy Ebert is a member of the Seabees, and for Seabees there just aren't any difficulties too great to overcome.

Last March, Billy donated a pint of his blood to the Red Cross when the Franklin county blood mobile unit came to Circleville. The donation was made the day young Ebert became 18 on March 18. Twice more he gave blood when the mobile unit came to Circleville, but on its fourth visit he was in the Seabees and was not in Circleville to make the donation. He wrote a letter home lamenting the fact that he wouldn't be able to help again.

ELDRED CAYCE TELLS ROTARY ABOUT BUSINESS

"Relationship of the Church to Industry" was discussed Thursday when Eldred A. Cayce, manager of the Ralston Purina Co. plant, addressed the Rotary club.

Mr. Cayce stressed the need for applying the Golden Rule in business, and declared that his firm has the "do unto others as you would they should do unto you" policy in operation in its dealings with its customers.

"Business and the Church should work together," the industrialist said. "If two men of the same qualifications apply for a job, one is a Christian and the other is not, we always employ the Christian."

Mr. Cayce declared also that all executives should be civic-minded and willing to expand their knowledge. "When an executive ceases to expand mentally," he said, "then he goes backward."

Leslie D. May, manager of the Circleville Oil Co., was named vice-president to replace Mr. Cayce, who leaves soon to take up new duties with his company in St. Louis.
